Harbor's approval is closer

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

The Antioch Plan Commission is in the process of formulating its recommendation to the Antioch Village Board concerning the proposed recreational-oriented residential section called Heron Harbor.

Although a final decision had not been made by the plan commission at press time, head of the commission, Marvin Oldenburger said that his was just one opinion, but he expects that the proposal will be approved by the commission.

There were 50 to 75 people at the public hearing last week. Most seemed to be there to gather information on the project.

The commission is expected to make that final recommendation to the village board at the April 26th board meeting.

Heron Harbor, proposed for the northeast side of Lake Marie, consists of approximately 300 acres of land on a 600-acre site on the south side of Rte. 173, one-half mile west of Rte. 59, diagonal to Ace Hardware.

Since AMOCO has scrapped plans to build a super service station on the southwest corner of the intersection of Rtes. 173 and 59, reports are that the developers are also negotiating to buy that corner from the Osmond family.

The projected population that will inhabit the single family homes and the (Continued on Page 7)

Chamber 'to take a chance'

The retailer association of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry is sponsoring Las Vegas days in the village on the weekend of April 26, 27 and 28, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, during regular store hours.

About 22 participating merchants will offer customers some sort of game of chance on that weekend. Winners will receive discounts on merchandise.

The Chamber is also offering customers chances on a drawing for a free trip for two to the real Las Vegas.

Hatching a surprise

Sailing enthusiasts getting ready for new season are due for surprise when they discover unconventional nesting spot Momma Duck chose to start her family. Even though there might be competition for launching space, one thing is certain. Ducklings will be close to water when ready for swimming lessons.—

Extension Advisor Green to retire April 30

Irene Green, University of Illinois Extension adviser and Child and Family Life Multi County specialist will retire from Cooperative Extension Service April 20 after 23 years of active involvement as a county staff member, 18 of which have been in Lake County.

"Presenting education to interested adult and youth on phases of homemaking, family and community living, with programs designed to fit their needs and interest has been personally rewarding to me," said Green. "I have grown as well as watched others grow, as they filled leadership positions as volunteer leaders, council and board officers, and members."

"Extension provides latest research information in public education in the home and community. Never before has new knowledge emerged so rapidly or become obsolete so fast. In order to keep informed, adults search for ways to renew their base of knowledge. I am proud to have been a part of transferring information from the University of Illinois to people who can use it," she added.

Lake County has had Green as a staff member since 1972, following five years of Extension experience in Wythe County and Roanoke County with Virginia Cooperative Extension Service.

She earned her MS degree in administration and continuing education from University of Illinois in 1981 and her BS degree in home economics from Radford University in Virginia.

Honors received during employment include: State Outstanding Team Award, National Distinguished Service Award, State Professional Improvement Award, State Peer Outstanding Program, National Association County Achievement Award and YWCA Outstanding Leader Award.

Professional and Honor Societies include: Illinois Assoc. of Extension Home Economists, National Assoc. of Extension Home Economists, Illinois Home Economics Assoc., American Home Economics Assoc., Epsilon Sigma Phi, Gamma Sigma Delta, American Assoc. of University Women and YWCA.

She has served on numerous regional state and national committees. Past Lake County leadership activities include:

*Leadership with Lake County Homemakers Extension Assoc.

*Providing leadership with Home

Economics Program Council.

*Starting and directing of Expanding Food and Nutrition Education Program in Waukegan and North Chicago.

*Assisted with the organization of Lake County Human Service Council.

*Helped to complete the first Human Service Council Directory.

*Instrumental in opening and CES Urban Office at Smith Park in Waukegan.

*A past member of Chain O'Lakes Senior Council Board.

*A member of Senior Coalition and Youth Coalition.

The Lake County Extension staff and councils are planning an open house to honor Green April 20 from 2 to 5 p.m. and Lake County Home Maker's Assoc. with a dinner on May 1. Both events will be held in the New Education Building at Grayslake.

She and her husband, Fred, will be moving to Mount Airy, N.C., following retirement and selling of their present home in Libertyville.

Club plans benefit for Garraughty

The Gagewood Lioness Club will be sponsoring a benefit at the Sundance Saloon in Ivanhoe for an Arbor Vista resident.

The benefit May 6 will help defray the medical expenses for Stephen Garraughty who was injured severely in an accident.

George Anne Depke, who is heading publicity for the event, said the Garraughtys are well known in the area.

A raffle will be held in Garraughty's behalf.

Tickets are $2 each or $10 a book. Prizes include five portable color television, a Sony CD player and a remote control turbo portable spa.

Garraughty, 19, is a 1988 Warren Twp. High School graduate who has returned home from hospital treatment in Milwaukee.

The club has also set up a scholarship fund.

For more information, call Bill Leistner at (708) 223-4860. The donations are tax deductible.

Lakeland has 'rub-free' ink

The 15 community newspapers published by Lakeland Newspapers now are being printed with new "rub-free" black ink. That means you'll never again get ink smudged hands from turning the pages of this newspaper. Well, almost! Actually, ink rub-off has been reduced 85 percent.

"We view this as a great step forward," declared Publisher William H. Schroeder. "Our change to rub-free black ink was prompted by inquiries we receive from readers on why the paper is so messy."

"We've been aware of the problem, of course, but it's only been comparatively recently that ink scientists have perfected a good, rub-free black ink that runs well on our fast, huge offset presses," the publisher stated.

For years, web-offset inks were formulated of carbon black, oil and chemical additives. They printed well, looked great, but never ever dried.

Schroeder said the new ink adds to production costs of the newspaper, "but we think the added expense is well worth it."

The publisher invited readers to comment on the improvement by calling (708) 223-8161 or writing Lakeland Newspapers at P.O. Box 268, Grayslake, IL 60030.

A 'couple' of recruiters with 'something in common'

"If you don't want to be here," observed Sergeant Catherine Blurton of her recent assignment to the Libertyville Army Recruiting Station, "you won't make it as a recruiter. My husband and I want to be here."

Blurton, 23, and her husband, Staff Sergeant Christopher D. Blurton, of the Waukegan Recruiting Station, went to work Monday, March 19, as the Libertyville Army Recruiting Company's newest recruiters. Both look forward to a successful and rewarding tour of duty.

"We volunteered for recruiting duty because it's a change from what we had been doing and because it's a challenge," said Christopher of the couple's decision to become recruiters. "We both plan on making our careers in the Army. We know that success in recruiting is really career enhancing."

The Blurtons plan to make their home in Gurnee with their 2-year-old daughter, Kristy Marie.

The Chicago area is familiar territory to the Sergeants Blurton. Christopher, born in Danville, grew up in Des Plaines and enlisted in the Army through the Round Lake Beach Army Recruiting Station in 1981. His mother, two aunts and an uncle still live in metropolitan Chicago.

"My mother lives in Mount Prospect right now," he said, "and will move in with us as soon as we get settled."

His wife, the former Catherine Bafaloukos, is a graduate of Lake Zurich High School and enlisted in the Army at the Libertyville Recruiting Station, which although located at a different address, is now where she works.

"I like the area, but after just five years away, I see a lot of changes. It's easy to get lost," she said. Catherine enjoys working with young people, another reason she opted for recruiting duty.

Although the couple have much in common, including their civilian and early military ties to Lake County, it took an assignment to the same military police unit at Fort Hood, Texas to bring them together. The two, then members of the 2nd Armored Division's 502nd Military Police Company, were married at Fort Hood in April 1986.

The Blurtons, both trained as Military Police, were subsequently assigned to West Germany, where they served in the Augsburg-Stuttgart area.

"We both like to travel," Catherine said. "Germany was very enjoyable. There's so much to see and do."

When not traveling, the Blurtons are likely to be found enjoying bicycling, racquetball or tennis together.

The couple agrees, too, on the reasons why they serve in uniform.

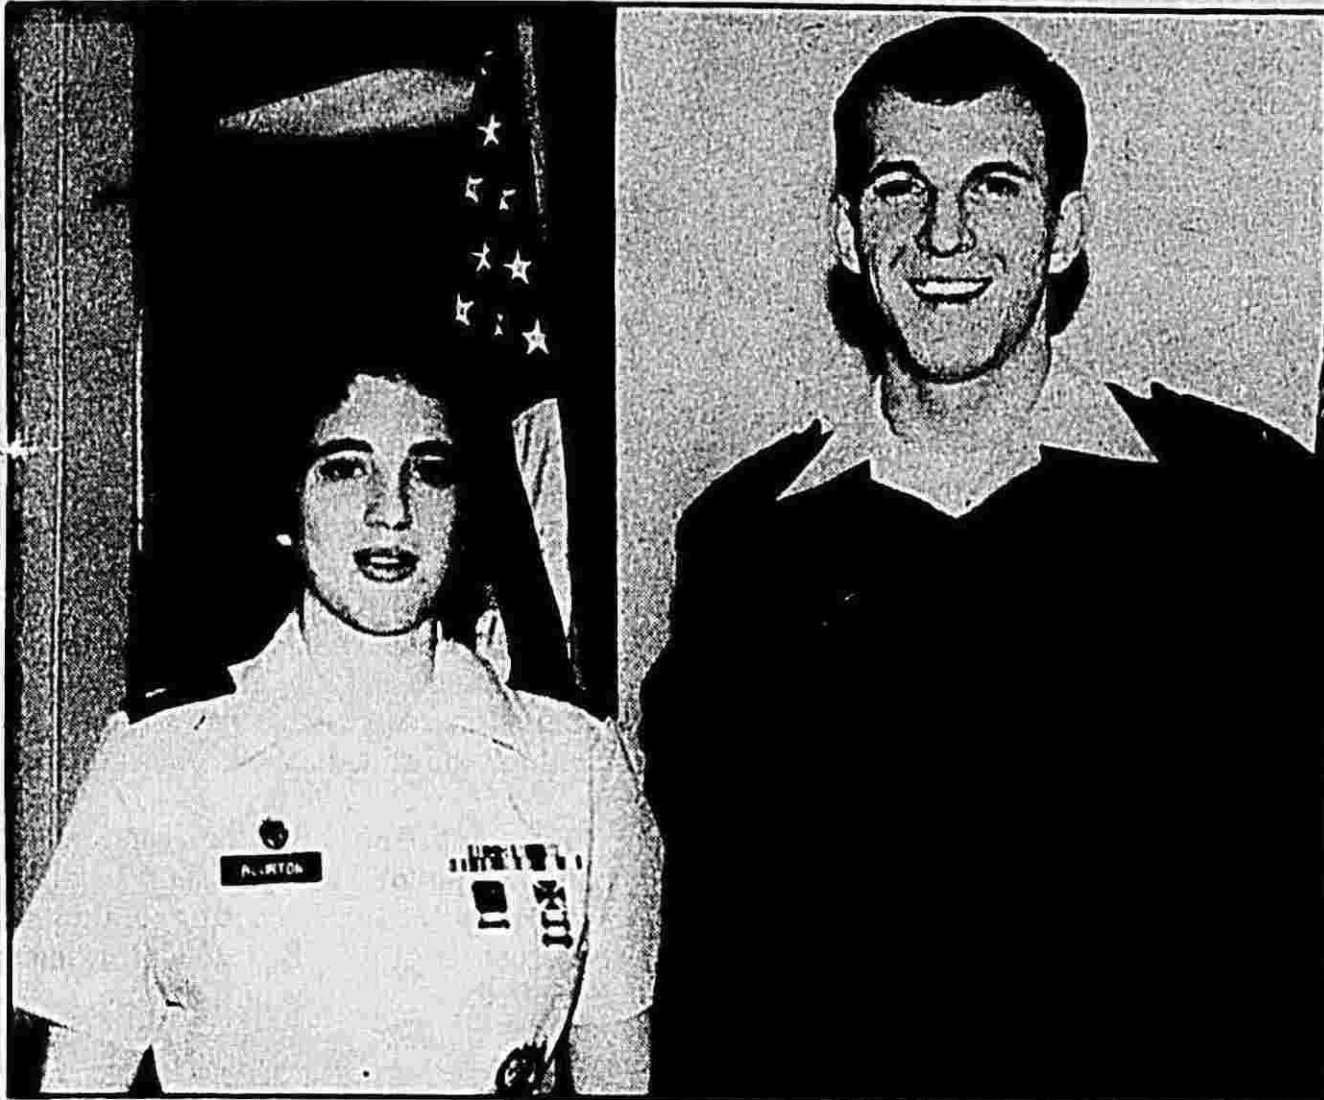

"A lot of people would say for 'the job skills, career opportunities or money for college.' It may sound old-fashioned or corny to some, but I wanted to serve my country," Christopher said. "Whether that's the person's primary motivation or not, that's what we're all really doing."

Catherine expresses similar sentiments, plus a desire for the element of challenge.

"There is, or was, a feeling among some that females didn't belong, that they can't do what soldiers are supposed to," she said. "I've always been interested in the Army and I wanted to prove that I could make it. I have."

Christopher believes the Army has personally benefitted him and he'd like to help other young people in choosing a direction for their future.

"I know the Army has helped me out as far as being independent and self-reliant," he said. "I consider myself to be an example for young people."

First day on new job

Glad to be here. The recruiting Blurtons prepare for their first day at the new job. It took an assignment to Fort Hood, Texas, to bring the two Lake County natives together. Sgt. Catherine, Staff Sgt. Christopher and daughter Kristy plan to make their home in Gurnee.

House nears completion

If you're in the neighborhood of Mariner's Cove Subdivision at the corner of Rte. 45 and Washington St. in Third Lake, take a look at the house at 108 Mainsail Dr. The three-bedroom, two and a half bath two story home has been completely built by the students in the Building Trades program at the Lake County Area Vocational Center (LCAVC). Here, Kirt Eggers, LCAVC Building Trades instructor, explains the correct procedure for finishing the drywall in the kitchen in the 8th building project for the center.

The scholarship is given annually to a journalism student.

Emmons looks to people for future

At the April school board meeting, the Emmons Board made plans to search for a new superintendent, asking for solicitation of input from parents and also for other upcoming school district needs.

The superintendent's vacancy was caused by Supt. Jill Ballock submitted her resignation last month after heading the district for six years.

The superintendent search is being conducted with the aid of the Regional Supt. of Lake County Schools, Sybil Yastrow.

Having lost two expansion referendums, the board talked about different ways to find the pulse of the school community in regards to the school's future size problems.

Under discussion were possible consolidation, maintaining the school's independence or trying for another referendum approval.

Emmons has already discussed possible consolidation with Antioch Grade School Dist. 34.

Dist. 34 officials are amiable to a consolidation saying, "that decision is now in Emmons' court."

The board decided to contact the district's parents next month to see how they feel about the options faced by the school district.

In other business, the board:

—gave final approval for a project that includes remodeling toilet areas, fixing kindergarten windows and lighting and providing handicapped access to the building and its rooms plus the installation of a new entry area.

— the board will open bids for the above project at the May board meeting. Financing for the project will come from life safety funds and bonds. Then the board awarded the life safety bond bid to the State Bank of Antioch.

In final moves, the board appointed Ken Wierschem to the position of school district treasurer. Wierschem already serves as Antioch Community High School's business manager.

Board members also discussed holding activities to show the appreciation felt for the good job the school's staff has done. With money spending in mind, the board talked about buying new telephones and a copy machine to be used during the next school year.

At the next school board meeting, the present school insurance program will be up for review.

Grass Lake superintendent receives doctor's degree

by LIZ SCHMEHL

(708)395-5380

Congratulations

Congratulations are in order for Grass Lake School Supt. Anthony Przeklasa. Tony recently received his doctor's degree in education. Congratulations, Tony, we are all very proud of you, and I am sure you are too! In honor of the occasion, I hope Helen made you a batch of chocolate chip cookies.

Spring Trip

Bear with me as I give a slightly after the fact report on the Schmehl family's spring break visit to Eagle River, Wis. We loaded our S10 Chevy pick up truck with the suitcases, various tools, Bertha (the dog), Andrew (the dog), and Luigi (the raccoon). Pappa (Jim), Mama (Liz), son (Jim Jr.), piled into the front seat. As we pulled out of our driveway, at 1 a.m., I thought to myself, what a way to travel, three people crunched into the front seat and three animals, etc. under the cap in the back.

We arrived at about 6:30 a.m. to a very cold house and three downed trees on our property, as a result of a recent wind storm. Once the house warmed up, and the animals were settled in, our vacation began.

Each day we went out for a brunch, took in a area sight or two, returned to accomplish a few chores, and then went out for a late dinner.

In between I fought with Jim, Jr., and his friend, Jeff Grief, for my Nintendo privileges and bored everyone to death (including the animals) with my accordion music.

One of the highlights of the trip was a side visit to a neighboring town to a wild life park/bar that raises a litter of bears each year for the purpose of selling them to the various local attractions. The bear used on the show "Gentle Ben" came from this town and this park. The babies were three boys, age two months, and as precious as could be. As I held and cuddled them I was tempted to walk out with one under by jacket. Luckily I came to my senses as I realized just what I do with a full-grown 350 pound bear. Even if I had its teeth pulled, it could claw us or squeeze us to death.

I also have a feeling that my easy going husband would draw the line on building a cage and den for a black bear, not to mention the reaction of the neighbors. Also, how would we transport it on our trips to Eagle River.

I can see us not, the two dogs, the raccoon in the back, hubby, son and I in the front a huge bear sitting on a rocking chair in our utility trailer. We would look like the Beverly Hillbillies of Antioch/Eagle River.

Sad News

The members of the Antioch Chapter AARP's All Stars Band are saddened by the passing of a dear friend and member of the band, 92-year-old, John Brennan, passed away on Friday, April 6 and was buried on Monday, April 9 following a Mass at St. Peter's in Antioch. As a member of the All Stars, John would perform an occasional tune on the bagpipes and also did a marching routine to Irving Berlin's "Over There." John was a terrific person and his friends and relatives will miss him very much.

Delightful Evening

The annual Board of Education/Administration dinner meeting was held at Antioch Community High School on Tuesday, April 10. The ACHS high school administrators and board members and the administrators and board members from all of the ACHS feeder schools were invited to attend. Glen G. Moore, president of the ACHS board, presided over the meeting. Everyone present enjoyed a delicious meal of roast beef, potatoes, veggies, tomato juice, salad, rolls, pie, milk and coffee.

The ACHS kitchen staff did an excellent job preparing and serving the food. After dinner, the guests were entertained by the ACHS Jazz Ensemble, under the direction of John Olisar and also the ACHA Show Choir, under the direction of Keith Cox.

The guest speaker was dynamic Barbara Richardson, the Lake County Coroner. She gave an excellent presentation concerning the community support plan to help individuals faced with the tragic death of a family member and close friend. ACHS has been selected as a pilot district and a meeting will be held later this month to get the first step of the program underway.

As a board member at Grass Lake School, I was in attendance at this dinner meeting. I would like to thank ACHS for hosting the affair, Barbara Richardson for giving such an excellent informative presentation, and the show choir and jazz ensemble for entertaining everyone "Big Band Style." It was truly a delightful evening.

Enjoy Party

Well, people, did you enjoy your three day Easter weekend? I know some three, four and five-year-olds who had a fun time in preparation for the Easter Bunny's arrival. On Wednesday, April 11, and Thursday, April 12, the Camp Crayon pre-school classes enjoyed the annual Camp Crayon Easter party. The little ones decorated their own baskets which were later filled with all kinds of special treats. They colored eggs, sang Easter songs, and were even visited by the real Easter bunny. Each child gave the bunny a big hug and in turn the bunny gave each child a hug and a special prize. However, Miss Liz got confused and when I referred to the Easter Bunny as Santa Claus, the little ones quickly corrected me. One little person even noticed the Easter Bunny had on regular people's shoes. Naturally the bunny had on these shoes so she would not get stickers etc. in her feet as she hopped through the forest to and from the homes hiding Easter eggs.

Bright Kids

With my own children advancing in years, I often find myself forgetting some of the phases they went through as pre-schoolers. I particularly enjoy working Wednesdays at Camp Crayon because it once again provides me the opportunity to experience these precious phases of a pre-schooler. Recently a little Camp Crayon student said "Miss Liz, I have a Mickey Mouthz back pack." I replied "You have a Mickey Mouthz back pack?" He said "No, Miss Liz, Mickey Mouthz." I then said "Mickey Mouse" and he replied "Yes." I forgot that the little ones are not aware of the words they mispronounce. However, they sure are aware when they hear them mispronounced!

Closing Message

In closing, I have a message to deliver to Deanna Olenick from all of her friends and relatives in the Grass Lake Area, "Go For It, Deanna, We Know You Can Do It!" That's is folks, Keep calling with those tidbits. Remember three hours of community service each month makes you eligible to participate in Share/foods each month.

Promoted

The sergeant is a 1976 graduate of Waukegan West High School.

Students study space tomatoes

Budding student scientists in the seventh grade science class at St. Peter's School, are planting garden to experiment with tomato seeds from space.

During the spring semester, students will grow and monitor space-exposed seeds and Earth-based seeds, searching for differences caused by long-term exposure to cosmic radiation. Results gathered by the students will be forwarded to NASA by June 15 for a final report.

For nearly six years, the seeds were exposed to the harsh environment of space, subjected to cosmic radiation, temperature extremes, weightlessness, and the vacuum of space. Students will be looking for possible mutations to the tomato plant, such as changed in fruit size and color, growth rate, and leaf, stem, and stalk shapes and sizes. The pink grapefruit is a mutation resulting from irradiating the white grapefruit seed.

The Space Exposed Experiment Developed for Students (SEEDS) was one of 57 experiments housed on the recently recovered 11-ton Long Duration Exposure Facility satellite. After a nearly six-year voyage in space, the 12.5 million tomato seeds were rescued by the crew of the Space Shuttle Columbia on Jan. 12, 1990.

In March, NASA distributed 180,000 SEEDS kits containing space-exposed seeds and an equal number of Earth-based seeds to teachers from the upper elementary school to the university level for experiments and study.

Dispatching costs to rise

Village board 'dispatches' cop department problems

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

The Antioch Village Board voted to replace a part-time dispatcher position in the police department with a full-time position.

Antioch Village Trustee Larry Hanson, head of the safety committee, told the village board that there is a staffing problem in the police-fire dispatching department.

He asked that the slot for a part-time dispatcher be replaced with one for a full-time dispatcher because "Those girls are really overloaded."

Antioch Police Chief Charles Miller told the board that this change would not affect the police budget he had already prepared because the present staffing problem had drawn a lot of over-time wages which would be negated by the new full-timer's salary.

Hanson added that a new full-time dispatcher could also pick up some of the clerical work in the police investigation department to released an officer from paper work for investigative work.

Also in relation to the police department, Trustee Ed Kosziorowski questioned Miller about the police department maintaining a daily residence check while people are on vacation for six months.

Miller said that this had been a long-time police department courtesy.

Kosziorowski said "watching someone's house when they are away for two weeks or so is one thing, but six months is another and expensive proposition."

"They should pay for this kind of service, we could probably install a security system for the cost of having a squad drive by and stop and check doors everyday for six months," said Kosziorowski.

The board also decided to put the Villages of Lake Villa and Lindenhurst on notice that the price of Antioch doing the dispatching for their police and fire departments will be going up.

Kosziorowski asked the Chief Miller come up with costs of equipment and man hours for doing this dispatching to show the two village boards plus the cost of the expanded 911 system.

Top money raiser

Jeri Potter, Antioch, is Camp Ravenswood YMCA's highest money raiser in the Mississippi Swim fundraiser event. She raised $530 by obtaining pledges for her lap swimming. In total $2,825 will be providing scholarship money for family and youth memberships.

Heron Harbor

town homes in the proposal has been set at 1,600.

Included in the private residential/recreational subdivision's plan is a clubhouse, tennis courts and a marina with 298 boat slips with boardwalk docks.

The developer, the G. W. Fogelson Co., Inc., Chicago, has already applied for the needed federal and state permits on the development of what was known as the Al Peterson property.

The development will require the filling and dredging of wetlands and the placement of boat slips, docks and a seawall.

The site currently contains approximately 168.5 acres of wetlands located in nine different spots. The bulk of that acreage, 155.4 acres of this total acreage, is a large cattail marsh dominated by the broad-leaf cattail, narrow-leaf cattail, sedges and black willow.

A 30-acre heavily wooded island is included with the cattail marsh.

Approximately 4,000 feet of woolmanized wood seawall will separate the dock area from the marsh.

Fogelson proposes to fill three acres of wetland for the proposed project.

The Army Corps' preliminary review says that "the proposed activity is not likely to jeopardize the continued existence of any species or the critical habitat of any fish or wildlife" or be an endangerment to any plant life.

The Corps adds that the decision whether to issue a permit will be based upon an evaluation of the probable impact including cumulative impacts of the proposed activity on the public interest.

Flood hazards, floodplain values, land use, navigation, shoreline erosion, water supply and conservation, water quality, energy needs, safety, food and fiber production, mineral needs, ownership, and in general the welfare of the people, will also be top considerations of the Corps before approving the permit requests.

Since this activity involves the discharge of dredged or fill material into U. S. waters, the Corps' evaluation will also include application of the guidelines of the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency as outlined in the Clean Water Act.

The Corps is soliciting input from the public on parts or the total project activity.

Set cop pension board

The Antioch Village Board is expecting the official population of Antioch to go well over 5,000 when the results of the 1990 census are in.

This will make a police and pension fund mandatory.

Antioch Mayor Robert Wilton has asked the village board to approve the setting-up of a five-member Police Pension Board.

The mayor will appoint two members. One member will come from the group of fund beneficiaries such as a retired policeman.

The other two members will be elected by the members of the Antioch Police Dept.

Antioch's firemen are still volunteer so they will not come under the pension fund until the department goes full time.

FALLING FOR FRILLS

QUESTION: My wife fell in love with a built-in microwave oven and insists we buy a house that is overpriced and out of our financial range. Any advice?

ANSWER: This is one of the typical mistakes a house-hunter can make — buying the frill instead of the house. All too often a family will fall in love with any eye-catching feature and buy the wrong house. Yielding to superficial attractions like these can result in your family ending up with a thoroughly unsuitable house. Bear in mind that the same alluring feature can usually be added to another house at a relatively small cost considering the amount of the overall purchase.

MAKE SURE YOU BUY THE HOUSE and not the frill. You may end up with the right frill and wrong house.

session of marijuana.

The victim allegedly was offered a ride by Jockell who later picked up another man who is being sought by police,

According to the report, the unidentified man reportedly held the victim while Jockell raped her and then raped her while Jockell held her.

The woman was later let out of the car on Petite Lake Rd. and she went to the closest house for help.

The homeless in Lake County

Facing the Faceless

Editor's Note: This is the first of a three-part series addressing the growing problem of homelessness in Lake County. The first part will look at some of the people, agencies and issues involved. Part 2 will address specific problems that cause or contribute to homelessness. Part 3 will look at what needs to be done and what can be done in the future to combat this serious problem.

Rodney saw it as an adventure. "Chris" was looking for "that big something to jump into." "Mary" moved here from Texas. "Ann" lost both parents in December. "Ruby" said her family no longer had room for her and her children.

These are the ones with no faces and sometimes no names. These are the homeless in Lake County.

Rodney sums it up best: "This is not a good life. It's not fun at all."

Rodney, "Chris," "Mary" and "Ann" (all names in quotation marks were changed at the request of the people interviewed) have been living in the PADS shelter system, where they were interviewed. "Ruby" had found a job and a temporary residence at the time of our interview and had never spent the night in a PADS shelter during her family's homeless period.

They talk about their expectations. "I thought this thing, living like the hobos did, would be fun," explained Rodney. His friend Chris elaborated, "You see it on TV, or printed up and you get a certain idea about it. But it's not like that. People look down on you." "It's not what I expected to get into," admits Mary, "but so far it's o.k., except for my husband being out of work." They don't talk about other people's expectations for them.

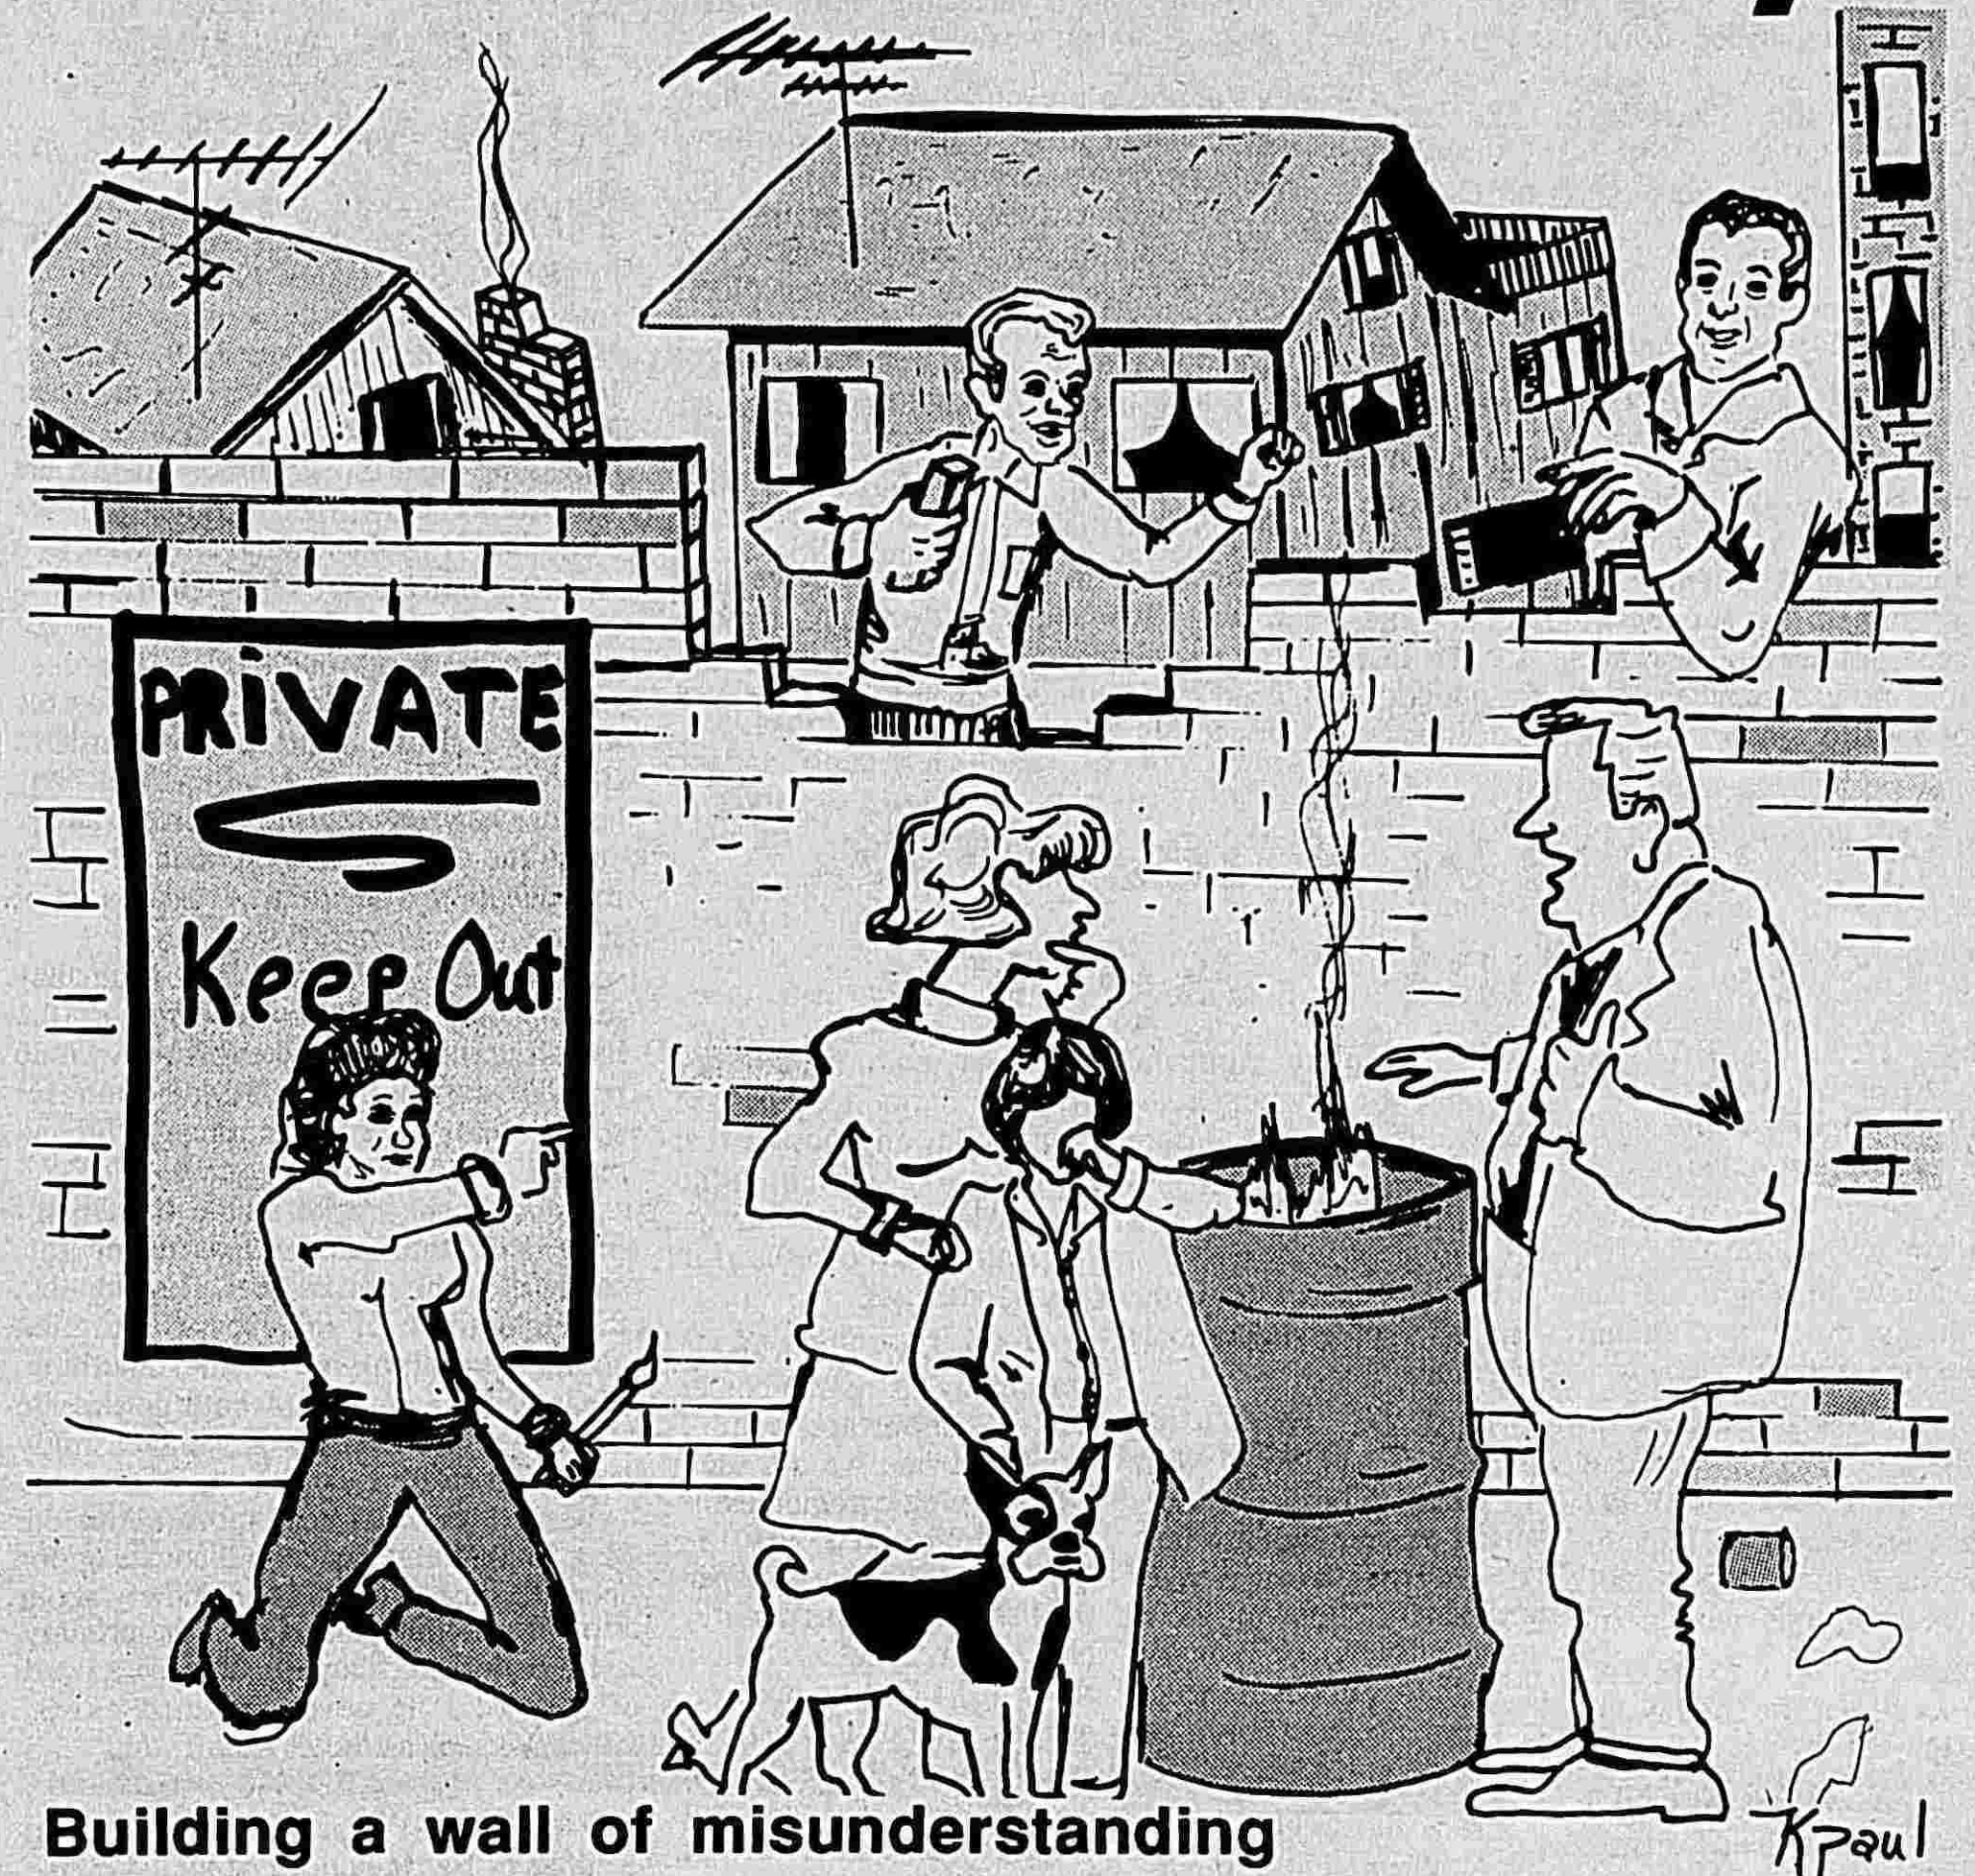

They talk about sleeping in cars, although Chris is quick to point out not many are fortunate enough to have cars. "My greatest fear," admitted Ruby, "was of sleeping in my car with my kids. That would have been the worst." They don't talk about sleeping in houses.

They talk about looking for work. "I can't get into the military because I'm not a high school graduate," said Chris. "It's hard to get into a GED program, especially when you're homeless, and you have to buy this book, these supplies, and all that, and you don't have the money to get to the classes." "Fast food places will hire you," says Rodney, "but they won't give more than maybe 35 hours a week and they don't like you to work overtime." They don't mention the cost of transportation, cleaning uniforms, feeding themselves, or the high cost of housing.

They talk about their families. "My sister doesn't want to be involved with me, and I don't really blame her," said Ann. "Go home?" asked Chris. "It's kind of embarrassing."

"When I'm doing good," said Rodney, "I stop by and see my mother. When I'm doing bad she doesn't hear from me." Chris again, "I want some kind of stability first. I can't go home a failure." Ruby: "I stayed with my family for awhile, but it got to be a bit much, so I had to leave." They don't talk about their children someday coming to them with the same need.

They talk about the social services system. "Illinois state aid for the homeless might give you $165, referral to a shelter, and some food stamps," explains Rodney. "You can get it from 10 days to two weeks. It can take up to 45 days to collect state aid in some cases." "They i.d. you from your toes up," says Ann. "You're better off finding your own situation, but you can get some help if you have the right card." She opens her wallet and spills a dozen or more aid cards out, food stamp identification, township within PADS or any other agency he contacted. So he created his own. It is run independently and he jokingly calls it a "work-study" program. "We do Bible study first thing in the morning to start off, but it's voluntary and just a devotional study. Mainly we help with resume writing, job search skills. We help locate job openings, and we help with furniture and clothing if they find an Lake County Health Dept. and Lake County Mental Health. There is also the Street People Task Force and the Coalition for the Homeless. There is also a loosely knit organization of church sponsored soup kitchens reminiscent of the depression era bread lines.

If this admittedly partial list seems formidable, so do the numbers collected on the homeless situation in Lake County alone. One total estimate of the homeless in Lake County gives an approximate figure of 2,800. The numbers vary and all sources admit that there may be more people in need than can be properly assessed, but a conservative estimate for a one month period in January totalled 273 people, according to a survey done by SER/ Fair Housing Center's Linda Hammond. The local PADS shelters offered 2,920 nights of shelter in the last season alone.

"Fifty percent of the homeless are children under 18. Another 20 percent are employed adults. The remaining 30 percent are spouses of the unemployed, some mentally ill persons, some people who lack employment skills or people between jobs," maintains Greg Gola of the VA Domiciliary program.

And this is just the list of those who have already fallen through the cracks. The list of those who are marginal, who are perhaps one paycheck or one disaster away from spending some time in their cars or in a shelter is much longer.

One thing many groups agree on is the need for a permanent center where those in need could go for help, one location with offices for several agencies and organizations with help to offer. But finding a community willing to have such a center within city or village limits in Lake County is difficult. Toby Jones, director of PADS puts it simply, "Everybody wants it, but not in their backyards."

by PAT CHRISTENSEN

identification, medical aid identification, others. No one talks about the sort of identification needed to rejoin society. No one says much about the cutbacks in the aid packages.

They talk about the PADS system. "Thank God it's here," says Ann, "but I don't want to be here." "My family weren't the ones who helped," offered Ruby. "It was the people from the shelters and the other organizations. One thing you do learn very quick. You learn who your real friends are." "You might freeze trying to get to one of the PADS," said Chris, commenting on the distance between shelters and the lack of transportation. "They may have a good system, but once you get from here to there, that's your whole day right there. You have to survive for that day. You can't get out to get that job." Nobody talks about what happens when the shelters close down at the end of April, about where they will go at night then.

"There's not too much chance for a homeless person," concludes Rodney, sadly.

There are those trying to create chances. Rev. Dennis Cress runs one of the PADS shelters at the Hillcrest Baptist Church in North Chicago. He saw a need for follow-up care, and there was nothing available apartment."

This effort is apparently paying off. Of the dozen or so people who have entered his program at some point, six have stayed pretty much all the way through. Of these, Cress reports that his program has placed two people in housing and found employment for another three. His program has also furnished at least one apartment for one person. The follow-up program has only been running for the past six weeks.

Other groups are out there as well. SER Fair Housing is looking into establishing a drop-in center where many other services could send representatives so that services and programs could be centrally located for easier access to those in need.

Project COOL (Christian Outreach Of Lutherans) is working on offering transitional housing for people coming off the street and out of shelters. COOL also operates a food pantry at 121 W. Water St. in Waukegan.

A partial list of agencies involved in helping the homeless would include the PADS system, Catholic Charities, Prairie State Legal Services, the Community Action Project (CAP), the Lake County Humane Society, the Salvation Army, Food Resource Services, the St. Vincent De Paul Society, the

Landmark meeting

An almost unheard of endeavor, getting 17 neighboring communities to agree on common ordinances governing growth and development, will come to a head at 8 p.m. Thursday, April 26, at Lake Zurich Village Hall when articles of agreement are presented at a meeting of the Corridor Planning Council for Central Lake County.

The council, an assemblage of municipalities along the proposed extension of Hwy. 53, was formed as a planning vehicle by the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission (NIPC) with hopes of avoiding many of the problems now being suffered by mushrooming DuPage County.

Formed last summer, the council has been conducting workshops for the last five months to set the stage for adoption of local ordinances protecting wetlands, encouraging construction of affordable housing and restricting more traffic congestion than we now have.

There is a prevailing feeling that there are benefits to be achieved in forming common responses to mutual problems even if the controversial highway never is built. The attitude of mutual respect and need for cooperation is encouraging. NIPC is stressing voluntarism in agreeing on guidelines. There is too much evidence that there is little or nothing to be gained when neighboring villages compete for tax-generating office buildings and shopping malls.

Response to the articles of agreement will signal whether the decade of the 90's is a new dawning or a continuation of the head-long plunge toward gridlock and desiccation of the environment.

Month for meetings, trees; that's April

by VIRGINIA PARK

April is always a busy time. There are the usual monthly meetings of trustees of villages, libraries, schools, fire districts, to which we can add in April the annual meeting of the townships.

There is the change to Daylight Saving Time that I suspect is so we won't have to be out so long in the dark if we attend all these meetings which, of course, are open to each of us as Jennie or Johnny Q. Taxpayer.

Then there are the important religious festivals of Passover and Easter which affect whole families over a longer period of time than just one church service and get-together party.

April also brings the long-standing celebration of Arbor Day on April 27, and marks this year the 20th observation of Earth Day on April 22. Chicago Day on April 29 is looking this year at the 100th anniversary of the wonderful Columbian Exposition of 1893, regarded by many as the supreme accomplishment of such affairs.

One hundred years ago Mrs. Potter Palmer, social leader of Chicago's elite, was made chairman of this event which really put the midwestern city of Chicago, recovering from the disastrous Chicago Fire, into the forefront of international acclaim.

One has only to look at the magnificent buildings, built for this exhibition, which today house the Field Museum and the Museum of Science and Industry to gauge the elegant tone of the whole exhibit. They were no little fly-by-night tent shows. They have withstood the ravages of time and continue to serve us all with grandeur.

My mother, who was about 10 years old when she visited the Fair, never ceased to praise its wonders. One of my cherished books is a complete pictorial account of everything at the exposition even to a nursery for babies filled with curtained bassinets for every child. Rather a different concept from the nap mats some play schools offer today.

Earth Day plays a big part in raising our appreciation of the wonders of our planet, and this year its celebration will undoubtedly be even more universally undertaken as concern for our environment is finally getting more of the attention it deserves.

From the beginning of the environmental movement a head-on collision with the increasing demands of the out-of-control population growth was seen by many to be inevitable, but is acknowledged by few.

The self-interest of industry and nations, combined with the inability of earth's inhabitants to grasp the fact that its resources are not infinite, Starkist and Bumblebee tuna fish not to purchase tuna from any outfits that use nets which also entangle porpoises therein. Japan, however, refused to change its nets.

Arbor Day is the lovely day many of us remember as an important school holiday when we attended tree-planting ceremonies. It was conceived by J. Sterling Morton, newspaper publisher of Nebraska City, Neb., and first celebrated on April 10, 1872. Its purpose was to replenish the trees cut down by the settlers in that region. Morton went on to become Secretary of Agriculture, and also founded our own world-famous Morton Arboretum in Chicagoland.

Do you remember that President Bush, in his 1990 State of the Union Address in January, announced a new program, "America the Beautiful?" It plans to plant a billion new trees in the next decade.

Details intend to include

Hear Ye!
Hear Ye!

has brought us perilously close to the brink of our own destruction.

In 1988 George Woodwell, director of Woods Hole Research Center in Massachusetts, said, "Accommodation to the finite and living world will require a stewardship that we have not yet been willing to provide. The details of that stewardship must bring a revolution in governments internationally. (emphasis added.) The absence of such a revolution will mean a crippling global biotic impoverishment."

A perfect example of this necessity is the decision last week of the American companies that market

United States companies, state and private conservation groups, and the federal government through whose combined efforts there could be 10 billion new trees growing in America by the year 2001.

Through the absorption of carbon dioxide by this many trees, the program will help to clean up not only America's air, but the whole world's atmosphere as well.

And let us not forget Joyce Kilmer's brilliant insight and the lovely lines of his lyrical statement.

"Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree."

Trade-A-Tax plan offered for relief

by BILL SCHROEDER
Lakeland Newspapers

Mild-mannered State Rep. Richard Mulcahey, who represents a rural area near Rockford, has done the unthinkable. For a long time he's talked about raising the state income tax to provide aid for education. Now the Durand Democrat who represents a heavily Republican area has introduced a bill in Springfield to raise the state income tax by one-third.

Even with his talk about increasing the income tax, the folks in the northern Illinois district keep electing Mulcahey because he wants to make a corresponding cut in the share of real estate taxes going for education. They think it makes a lot of sense.

A former school teacher, Mulcahey reasons that it will take something drastic like a big income tax hike (his plan would provide an estimated $1.4 billion for schools) to provide for meaningful tax reform.

Republicans choke at the thought of increasing the income tax. Democrats catch their breath before allowing that their chairman of the House education committee might be on to something. Meanwhile, members of both parties are content to let citizens pay increasingly larger real estate tax bills.

Maybe we will hear more about the Man from Durand as the bill comes up for debate. Considering the hue and cry about crippling taxation sounded in the primary last month, Mulcahey might have a band of followers he never dreamed exists. Lawmakers, please note!

FED UP—You can't blame Donald Kutinac of Barrington for being fed up the

with the Lake County judicial system. Kutinac told us about a 20-year-old woman, making her second appearance on a bad check charge in Fox Lake Branch 3 Court, being found guilty and ordered to forfeit her $50 bond and make restitution on 13 bad checks passed in the Round Lake area.

"Now I understand why she was laughing when she walked out of the court room. Do you really think she's going to repay the checks?" Kutinac said he was surprised that the charge wasn't a felony because of the monetary value of the checks.

"What's next? Hold ups, burglary, stealing? She could of just walked in the store and took the items since they were never paid for. Will the fine be the same?"

Kutinac is convinced that it will take more than wrist-slapping justice to convince the young woman that crime doesn't pay.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY—Chalk up another success for seatbelts. Karen suffered only a wrenched neck and a bruised knee in a two-car collision on a rainy afternoon—because she was buckled up. Her misfortune also served to show how Illinois' new mandatory auto insurance law is going to work because the other driver was uninsured—and on the road without a drivers' license. A lot of things hit home at once in a traffic accident. We're happy she's OK even though a shiny new 1990 car is pretty messed up.

Letters To The Editor

Hurting the individual

Editor:

Your recent editorial on privatization of the Post Office states that "deregulation and privatization had a beneficial effect on American business." I would agree with that statement but who got hurt? The savings and loan bailout is going to cost taxpayers $500 billion. Deregulation benefited big business at the expense of the average American.

Privatization of the postal system will also benefit big business but two things are guaranteed to happen: there will be no universal mail delivery and no uniform mailing rate. Big business profits. The average person suffers.

The Post Office has its problems as any business does; but, it is still a good deal for everyone. I would have telephoned you about this but since the break-up of AT&T my phone bill is too high.

Plastic accepted

Editor:

Depots were we deposit our garbage are filling up fast. One solution is to burn it but most places do not allow it because of air pollution. Another is recycling. Recycling saves energy (another product that is in shortening supply). It conserves trees, and also conserves minerals used in the manufacture of glass, aluminum, newspaper, and plastics.

We have just found out about a place that collects plastic bottles (sorry but certain other plastics are not as yet recyclable, and most stay in our landfills for three to 400 years).

The place is the Messiah Lutheran Church in Wauconda, 25225 W. Ivanhoe Rd., (708)526-7161. They also collect other recyclables. The Federated Church also collects glass and aluminum. Why can't we collect the leaves and grass clippings in a central point and make compost from them? The landfills will soon stop accepting them.

Dick and Phyllis Riley

Burning with 'value'

Editor:

I was appalled to find out that the law was passed that we could actually burn our American flag. I was always taught to respect and honor the flag since I was young.

What's even more amazing is that the hearings and court action happened so fast. A woman gets raped with a gun to her head, and the courts and trial take at least enough time for people to forget the facts.

I was so impressed with the following paragraph that I had to share it with you and all those people who have nothing better to do than burn a flag or something. Here it is!

"It appears as though one now has the constitutional right to burn our American flag. I do wish that anyone who is so inclined would please do me a courtesy, which is prior to igniting the flag to please wrap himself in it."

Politically Speaking

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

Next fall's elections will have a level playing field. That's the expression county Democratic Party Chairman Betty Ann Moore uses to describe the key state races.

Neither of the gubernatorial candidates—Jim Edgar on the Republican ticket or Democrat Neil Hartigan—have held the office before. The same goes for their running mates, candidates for attorney general, secretary of state and controller. If anything, they are playing in the musical chairs game, attempting to move to a bigger office.

Moore likes the 50/50 odds. But she isn't predicting the outcome, yet.

*****

There was talk that some of the defeated candidates for the County Board in the March primary might switch allegiances to the Democratic Party.

Bruce Hansen of Lake Zurich and John Reindl of Mundelein were mentioned as likely defectors. So were the losers in Dist. 1.

But it hasn't happened, yet. The Democrats have until July to slate candidates.

"I've got lines out all over," said county Democratic Party Chairman Betty Ann Moore. "But nobody's biting."

*****

Hard as it is to believe, someone has been attending County Board meetings longer than Chairman Norman Geary or, even, Mike Graham. Geary has something like 27 years under his belt, Graham 17 years.

The person with more seniority is Di Kiekhaefer of Barrington Hills. The member of the Lake County League of Women Voters has monitored every County Board meeting for 30 years.

She was honored for this milestone at the April meeting with resolution for her "dedication to the cause of good government for three decades."

What's even more remarkable is that her only pay, as Geary said, "has been the satisfaction of working for good government."

*****

Walking with a cane last week was Matthew Miholic, Dist. 2 County Board member.

No, it's not arthritis or old age.

It happened because he was moving a bird house. It went one way and he went another.

*****

"Don't believe everything you hear," says Sandy Cermak. She is the new Republican precinct committeeman in Island Lake. She unseated the well-known Fred Bigham in March.

"I worked too hard to get elected," she said. "No way am I about to resign, quit or turn this job over to someone else."

"I was shocked anyone would start a rumor like that," Cermak added. "But then, I guess that's politics."

She and her mentor, Bill Whitely, say they want to help bring the factionized township GOP party together. This is something that has been talked about for 10 years. Now, it is township party Chairman Jerry Beyers' turn to try. Even Howard Bieze of the Wauconda Twp. Republican Assn. is building a peace bridge toward his annual August corn roast.

*****

Persons elected to public office should sit up and take notice of those who put them there. That's the sage advice of Larry Schwager of Gurnee Twp. He's the last-minute write-in who gave Robert Depke a scare in their March race for precinct committeeman.

At an April County Board meeting where a sewer extension was debated that would bring the Gurnee part of Warren Twp. hundreds of $200,000 homes, Schwager made an impassioned plea for denial.

"This is the time we need more statesmen and fewer politicians," he said. "Statesmen look to the next generation. Politicians look only to tomorrow."

*****

It appears the honeymoon is over for Lake Villa Twp. Supv. Sue Hanson.

The former township clerk had her first full-fledged township meeting last week. It was a marathon one, lasting until 11 p.m.

Hanson was bashed from one end of the township to the other for general assistance and park budget practices. The organized opposition didn't dent her professional demur, only bruised it—until next April.

Lake County's most despised man has to take credit for doing some good. It happened in Wauconda where lighted crosses sprang up on lawns for Easter.

Although there were not as many crosses as there were at Christmas, Robert Sherman had reason to shudder. He is the Buffalo Grove atheist, who makes news by attacking religious symbols and displays of municipalities.

In forcing Wauconda to replace its lighted municipal Christmas crosses with stars, Sherman has polarized the community. Easter was seen as an ideal time to haul out the crosses that put the community on the national news map in December.

Good show, Wauconda!

Congressman Lynn Martin (R-Rockford) was in Lake County the other day. As part of her campaign to become the next U.S. Senator from Illinois, she spoke to an assembly at Mundelein High School.

The stop was no accident. It was the choice of her director of field operations, Valery Miller. A 1983 graduate of Mundelein High School, she went to Bradley University to earn a degree in history and political science. Then, it was off to Connecticut where she was chief research analyst for the Connecticut Senate before being tapped by the Martin campaign.

Her parents, Marvin and Dawn Miller, still live in Mundelein. Dawn has been on local boards of education, currently the high school, for something like 16 years. She is also a Republican precinct committeeman in Libertyville 175. A sister is an election judge.

Lawyer members of the Lake County Bar Assn. have voted for the man most likely to succeed Associate Circuit Court Judge Albert Wysocki. He resigned.

Fifteen persons want the Circuit Court job. Maybe it's the prestige, lifestyle or the salary, $75,000 per.

The lawyer getting the most votes was Joseph Waldeck of Antioch with 123 followed by Donald H. Geiger of Gurnee, brother of longtime Judge Fred Geiger, with 102. Also recommended by virtue of getting more than 90 votes are Asst. State's Atty. Victoria Rossetti, 96; and Joan Pantsios, 90.

Among those the lawyers definitely do not want are Antioch Democrat Robert Long and Robert L. Snook Jr. of Waukegan. Both tied for this honor with 86 votes.

The other sitting circuit judges on the bench will make the decision, probably in a month or so. Betting is, the job will go to Rossetti or Waldeck.

OVERHEARD: Robert Churchill, the busy Republican state representative in the 62nd Dist. and newly-elected county GOP chairman, does get home occasionally. His wife, Sandra, gave birth April 12 to the couple's third daughter, Christine Lizbeth. She weighed in at 8 pounds, 14 ounces and measured 20 inches in length. Lake Zurich Mayor James Kay is not the big spender he was reported to be during a March trip to Washington, D. C. Limousine fare to O'Hare Field and back was $72.80, not the $198.09 listed in last week's paper. The original figure was provided in error.

Double impairment

Editor:
For all the drunken boaters who like to tell me that they still know up from down, no matter how much they drink, here are some facts they should know.

Alcohol intensifies the effect of caloric labyrinthitis, a fancy term for the disorientation caused by water entering the ear. A drunk person, whose head is immersed, can become so confused that he swims down to death instead of up to safety. This explains why some good swimmers or fishermen, who have been drinking, suddenly drown with no apparent reason.

There is an attitude of acceptance of traditional boating behavior, which includes drinking. For a great percent of our society, when they think of recreation, they think of alcohol, but it is a fatal attitude. It seems to be a given that if you are going boating, you are going drinking at the same time. Boating drinkers become impaired by the heat, glare, noise, vibration and wind. They don't have second nature to fall back on (like familiar roads) and they become complacent by the blue skies, nice boat and relaxed atmosphere. They get a false sense of security.

A boater gets drunk quicker in the water and it is very likely that the boat operator is dangerously impaired by these elements before he is legally impaired from alcohol.

Voters buy deception

Editor:
Congratulations to the Waukegan Police Dept. for their outstanding job they did nailing so many drug dealers. This county owes them a big thank you for their effective continuous war on drugs. Waukegan Police Dept. had the State Police handle the in-county arrests. Don't they trust the Sheriff's Dept. to handle it either?

The fact I point out that the Sheriff's Dept. has handled no drug busts under the current sheriff is considered mud slinging. But instead of this paper calling that public official to an accounting for his years in office, they print his personal character assassination against Bill Harder and myself, and call it good politics.

The sad thing is that this deception, aided by the papers, was bought by the voters. Unfortunately time has, and will, prove my campaign issues to be correct. And it does not matter whether I am a saint or a sinner, only if the questions are true or not. And we still have no answers.

Jail expansion: new floors, parking lot

by PAT CHRISTENSEN
Lakeland Newspapers

The Lake County Jail will be getting new floors. A bid by Camosy Construction has been approved for $4,344,000 to build one new floor and part of a second on to the existing jail building. The remaining half of the fifth floor and all of the sixth will be done, with construction due to begin within the next three or four weeks, according to Harold Callahan, chairman of the building commission.

The commission has also authorized their attorney to purchase a parking lot south of the jail for $615,000. The property, south of Water St. between Utica and County, has had two condemnation suits against it. According to Callahan, as soon as the contracts are signed and the court releases the condemnation suits against the property, the lot can be used. "We may increase the capacity. We own a piece of property south of the lot, on the west side, and we may want to repaint the divider markings, but other than that, it's a fully paved lot."

Another purchase the commission is looking into is a building at 307 Washington St. The commission is suggesting that an offer be made on the property as part of a long-range plan to acquire two or three buildings on the south side of Washington St. for use as another courts complex.

"Courts are growth industries," said Callahan, because as he pointed out, "crime is a major growth industry now."

He said that Lake County presently has "more judges than courtrooms," and more office space is needed by the Circuit Court Clerk's office, the Public Defender's office, the State's Attorney's office and others.

The building the commission is currently looking at is an abandoned site and Callahan said the commission would like to purchase it before a developer or private owner goes to the trouble of rehabbing it and forcing the courts to issue a condemnation to allow the county to purchase the property.

Free seeds at county office

Sign-ups are now being accepted for the Illinois Dept. of Conservation's Free Food Patch Seed Program.

Interested cooperators may sign-up at the Lake County Soil and Water Conservation Dist. (708)223-1056, or by contacting the IDOC Dist. Private Lands Biologist at (815)476-2523. Both bulk seed and small mixed bags will again be available for distribution depending on the size of plot and type of planting method the cooperator chooses.

Also available to qualified landowners are limited amounts of free grass/legume seed mixtures. This seed is being made available by sportsman's groups in northern Illinois to encourage long term seedings for wildlife.

'Greenhousing' is way of life for Leider family

by MIKE PRAMSHAFFER
Lakeland Newspapers

With spring time having arrived and homeowners busily preparing their yards for summer, greenhouses are a very popular place to be this time of year.

For Steve Leider of Leider's Garden Greenery in Lake Villa, the more popular the better.

This is his favorite time of year, not only because business is good, but also because of the satisfaction he gets from seeing his work "grow" and mature into a finished or marketable product.

Located at 34755 Rte. 83, Leider's Garden Greenery was established by Steve and his wife, Marty, in 1973. This is their 16th year in the retail business, having operated in strictly wholesale for a year prior to opening for retail in 1974.

Having grown up in the greenhouse business, Steve learned the tricks of the trade from his parents, who too were greenhouse owners in Evanston before coming to the Lake County area in 1970. The greenhouse business has become a way of life for the Leider family.

Steve is a firm believer that his education and experience in the field as a youngster have made a significant difference in the success of Leider's over the past 16 years. "He's a very hard worker, just like his parents, and it's more than just dollars and cents for him (Steve)," said Marty.

"He takes pride in the quality of his work because he wants his customers to be fully satisfied when they buy a Leider product. That's how you get repeat customers."

Steve takes care of the growing and planting of the greenery, while Marty operates the retail store along with Linda Caouette. The facility comprises a total of eight acres, including two full glass greenhouses, the retail store and other small buildings.

Leider's is open 12 months a year and specializes in bedding plants in the spring, including annuals, perennials, rose bushes, vegetable plants, hanging baskets and planters.

The establishment also specializes in garden mums in the fall, poinsettias at Christmas and lilies at Easter.

The retail store offers all kinds of pottery, fertilizer, fresh cut flowers, and other gift items.

Perhaps one of the most significant reasons for Leider's success in this very competitive market has been a high degree of dedication over the past 16 years. "He loves what he does and he's good at it. They say that's what running your own business is all about. If you're successfully happy, then you must be doing something right," said Marty of Steve.

Leider's still operates in the wholesale market, with special accounts for places like Hawthorn Shopping Center in Vernon Hills. "We really enjoy those accounts because the finished product is always so beautiful. Flower beds at shopping centers can be very breathtaking," said Marty.

As far as the future is concerned, the Leiders feel they will have to expand in order to keep up with the growth of Lake County. "At the rate we're going now, we'll definitely need to expand in the near future."

"The growth of Lake County has been a benefit of us, not only because of increased business, but also because it has helped us stay on top of what's in demand. This field is very competitive, but I think there's enough demand to go around for everyone's benefit," she said.

Marty believes quality products and loyal service are two business philosophies which have taken her and Steve very far. "Customer satisfaction is the most important aspect of this business. Without quality products and loyal service, you might as well forget about customer satisfaction. We have a lot of repeat customers and that's a good sign because that means they're satisfied with what we've done for them previously," she added.

Why not to pass your company on

by KENNETH KAYE

The past year has seen a proliferation of articles in business magazines bemoaning the fact that more than two thirds of successful businesses "fail" to make the transition to management by the owners' children.

We hear repeatedly about the unfortunate (and often avoidable) obstacles to successful succession: entrepreneurs' delusions of immortality, their resistance to turning over operating responsibility during their lifetimes, and families' fears about differentiating among siblings.

The other side of the matter gets too little attention, however the good reasons why most owners of thriving businesses don't bequeath them to their heirs, or if they do, why those companies don't stay in the family very long.

Why do so many consultants and authors assume this represents a failure?

Probably because most of those drawn to this field are frustrated non-inheritors of their families' businesses. An objective view might indicate good reasons, in many cases, for the decision to sell or liquidate rather than pass the business on.

One good reason is that there isn't necessarily any interested candidate in the family to run the business. Any why should there be? The founder's success has opened broader education and career possibilities to the next generation.

Mom or pop might have dreamed of a career in, say, marine biology, but got no closer than owning a marina. Their children can now afford the scholarly entrepreneurial business - as the parent did - than in managing a large concern. Those who do succeed tell us, "I wouldn't have started this company, as dad did - any more than he could have continued running it at the size and complexity it has reached."

Another good reason not to pass the business on has to do with one's heirs' work or stock in the acquiring company.

Some parents can't afford to bequeath their business to their heirs, because they want - or are forced by ill health - to retire, and they have few liquid assets. The next generation's reluctance to take the risk of buying some or all of the parents' stock, as necessary, would be a good reason to seek an outside buyer.

Conversely, if parents are unwilling to prepare their successors and gradually yield control to them, that is a good reason for their heirs apparent to decline to wait around. The founder might or might not be disappointed, but in either case, it could be a successful decision on the children's part.

Finally, both generations may astutely foresee a dead end in their market. (Buggy whips, anyone? Girdles? Mimeograph stencils?) Or perhaps they foresee insuperable changing prices, or labor costs. Knowing when and how to get out of a business can be an even more critical decision (because more is at stake) than knowing when and how to start one.

This Way to Wealth

life. Or, they may have promised themselves, as entrepreneurs' children, more reasonable hours, a more regular cash flow, or longer vacations than they saw their parents enjoy.

A second possibility is the lack of a competent family candidate. The next generation's talents may not be suited to the same career as the business-owning parent's. They only got half their genes from him or her, after all; and grew up in a very different environment and in different times.

Besides, the abilities required aren't the same ones the previous generation needed. Chips off the old block might be better suited to starting their own ethnic. If they refuse to earn their senior management positions, or regard the company's helm as a birthright, this is a good indication for putting the business into other hands. Better safeguard the family's wealth by investing it elsewhere.

The business may be worth substantially more to a buyer than to the family, for a variety of reasons. The potential buyers' existing businesses may give them better opportunities to cut costs or to expand into new markets.

In that case, a wise owner might well overcome sentiment and his dynastic dreams, and sell out for cash

FINANCIAL FOCUS

reported by Brosius D'Arcy

Many investors dream of finding a way to protect their principal while still participating in growth of capital. In reality, this isn't as difficult as it sounds. A little knowledge and reliance on a reputable mutual fund could be the answer.

First, select a mutual-fund family that has a conservative income fund and a growth fund. Next, make sure they will cross-invest all income dividends for you.

The idea is to invest first in the income fund, and then reinvest all dividend payments in the growth fund. This way, your original principal remains in a fund with the objective of protecting your assets. The earnings are reinvested more aggressively and have the potential for faster growth. And the reinvested dividends offer the advantage of dollar cost averaging.

The key, of course, is doing serious homework to select your income and growth funds. No one can predict future performance, but a careful study of a fund's management and long-term performance under various economic conditions should give you an advantage over the dart throwers.

 This week's question from The Illinois Chamber HELPLINE

Q. Does the law require me to pay overtime/time and a half for a week in which my employee worked 40 hours and had 8 hours holiday pay - a total of 48 hours?

A. When holiday pay is included in the weekly pay, the overtime rate does not have to be paid until the hours actually worked exceed 40 hours. The key is not hours paid but hours worked.

Film Review

In "Cry-Baby" we have another of many nostalgic trips back to the 1950s this time starring Johnny Depp and Amy Locane.

Deliver me please from another delving into the problems that our poor, poor teens have adjusting to real life!

Depp, straight from tv's "21 Jump Street," will have young female hearts aflutter with his dark good looks. That will be enough to please the 13 to 16 year olds and after that, if Depp wants to please anyone older, male or female, he need to take many acting classes.

Depp is "Cry Baby," having the habit of letting go with one great big tear to show his empathy in certain situations. A bit of schtick that could have worked if Depp could act.

This is another one of those movies where the good guys get away with bad things and crime doesn't always wreak punishment, to the viewers' moral degradation.

We rate this a 2.5 out of five stars. OK at the video store if you've seen all the late tapes that are in.

TV Tidbits

Four important new tv shows are lighting up the boob tube from now until rerun time, which for some series seems to be after the second episode. ABC has three of these new shows.

Mystery buffs and those who just like good acting and drama are pleased with high grade, slightly off-the-wall, soap opera "Twin Peaks."

The jury's still out on another ABC offering "Capitol News." It has potential. Some parts of the two-hour premier were gripping and a few cast members had a great moment or two. Maybe when condensed into hour segments, news gatherers in the nation's capitol will be sharing more of those great moments.

A pale reflection of the mega hit "L.A. Law" is ABC's third offering under the banner of "Equal Justice," this time emphasizing the prosecution's side. It will take some script upgrading and some character defining by the cast to lift this one above the average.

Carol Burnett is back on NBC with a weekly half-hour comedy/drama, "Carol and Company." The last two episodes were packed with up-to-date comedy and pathos. One concerned a girlfriend on a different basis when he goes to his class reunion after a sex change.

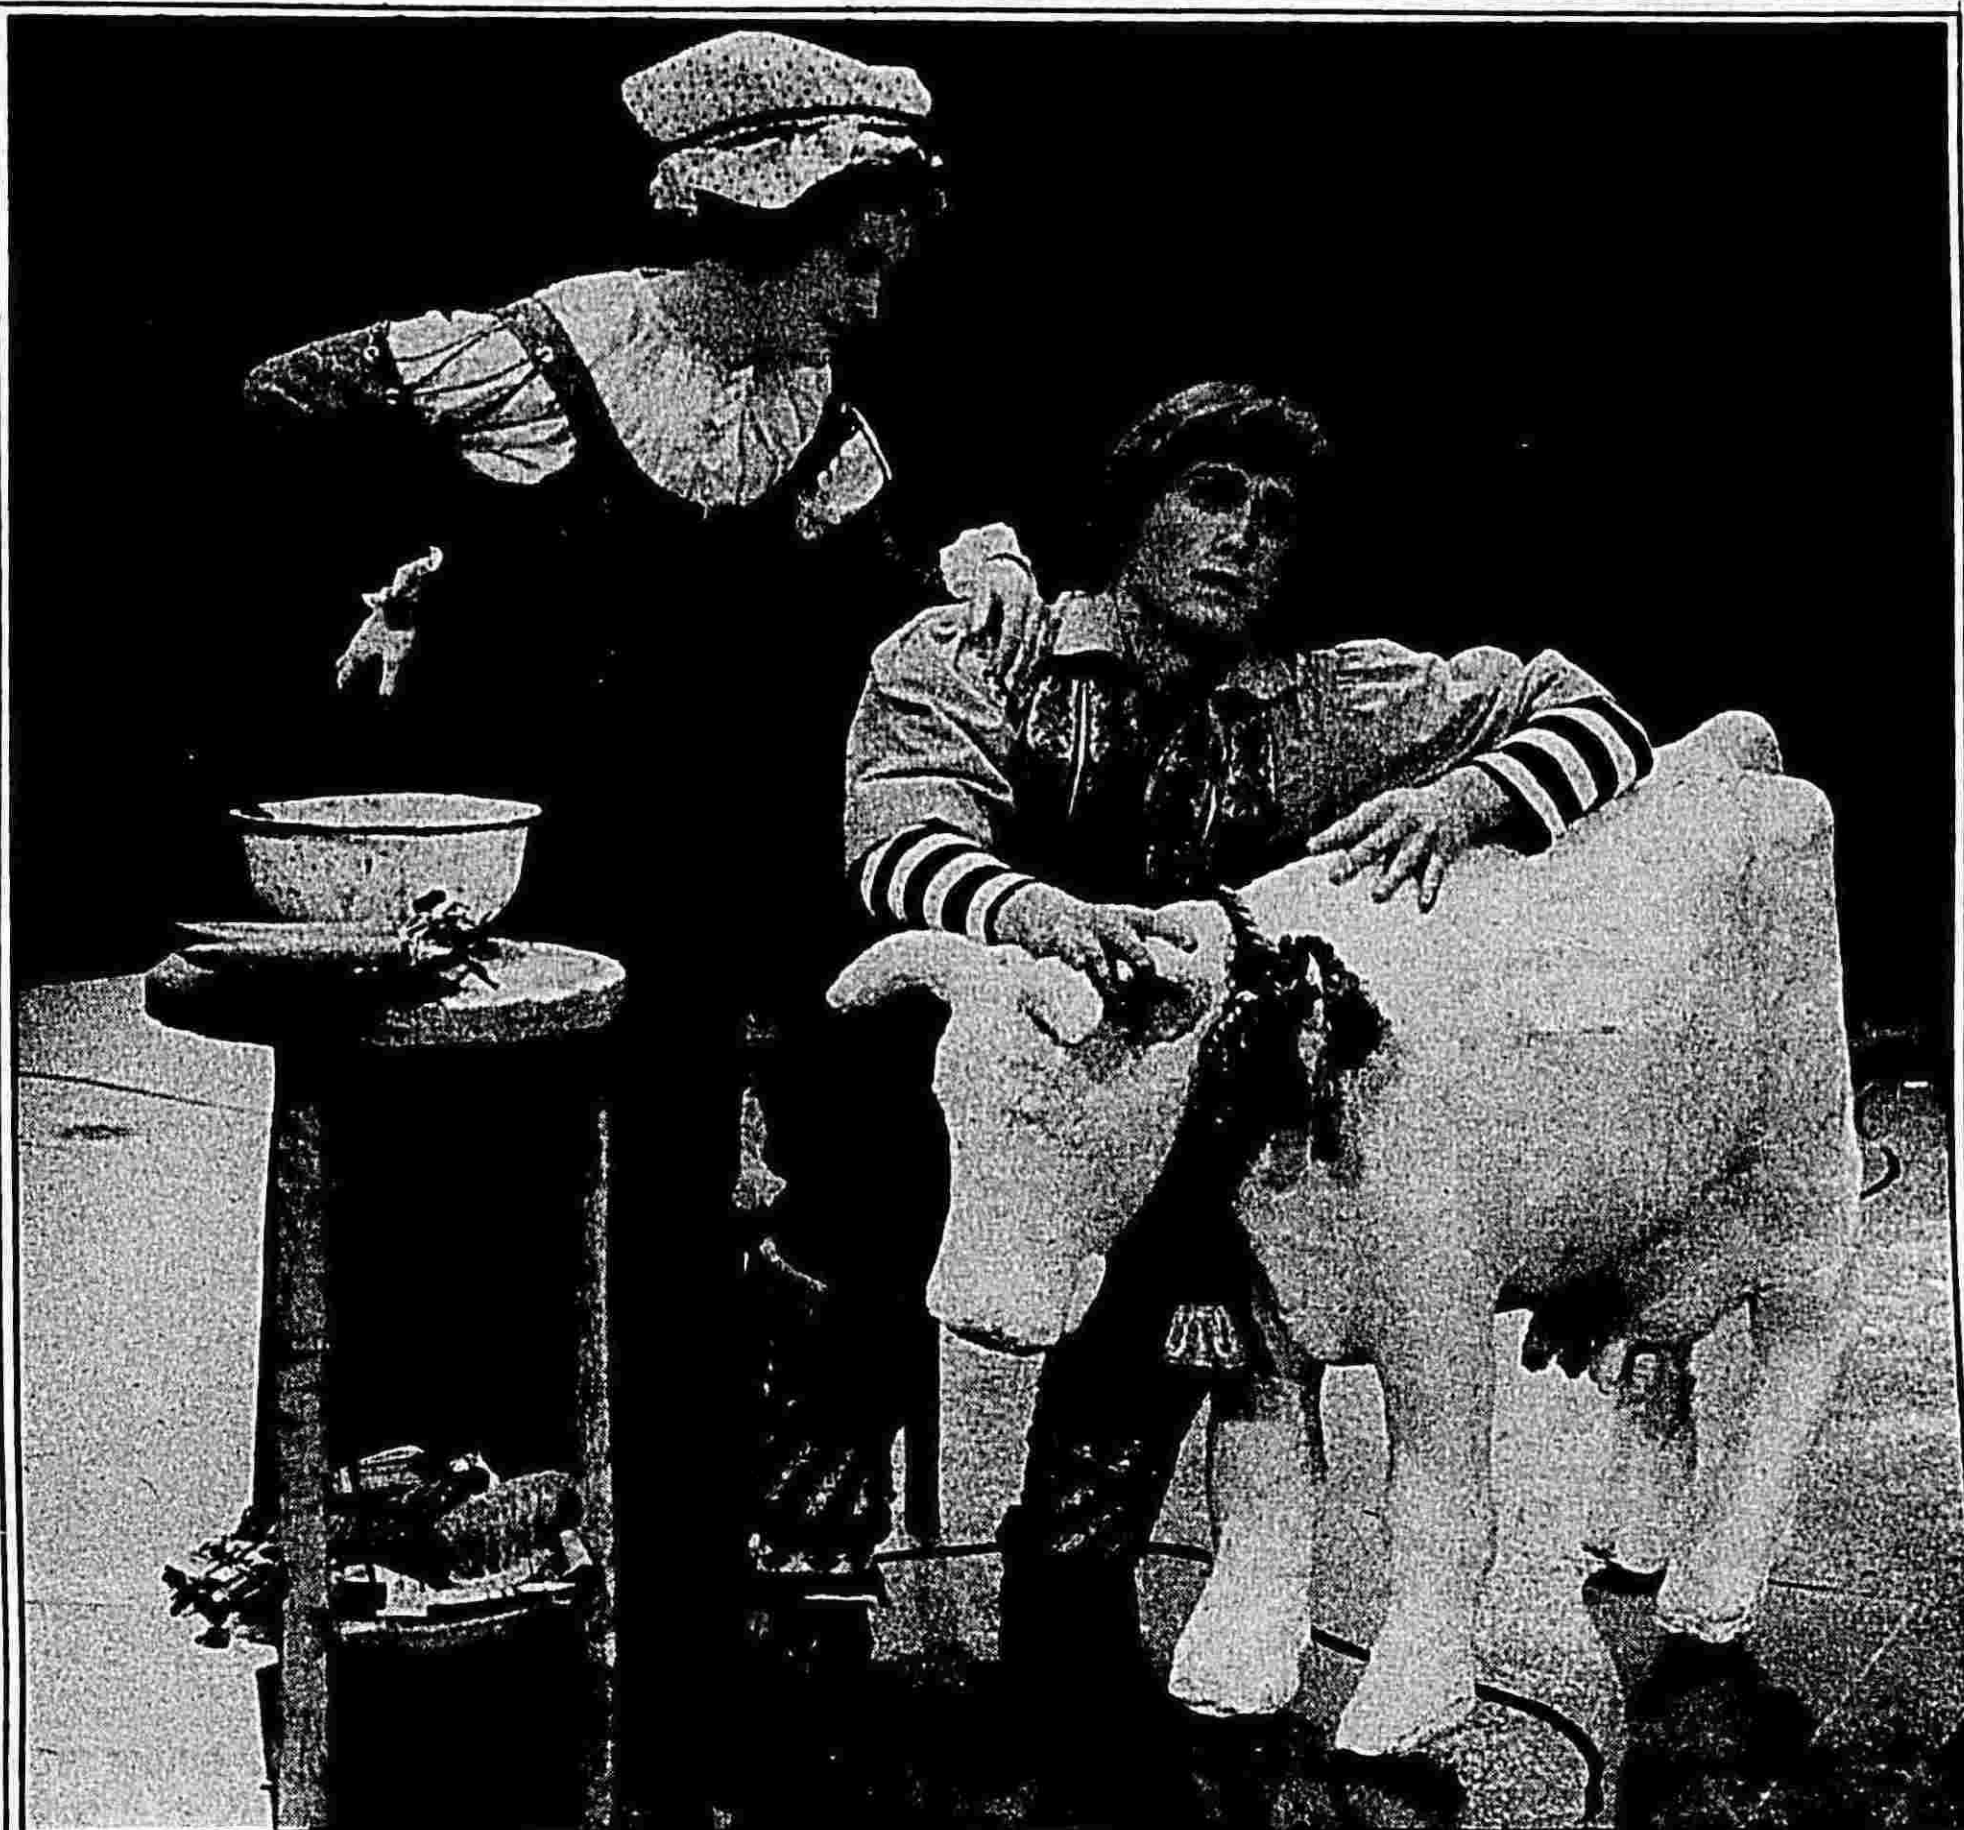

Watching "The Mother from Hell" suing her ungrateful adult children for services rendered from the time they were 18 was hilarious hit-home humor.

Video Votes

Fairly new video releases, "The Abyss," "Dead Poets Society," and the magnificent "Look Who's Talking," all fresh from Academy Award accolades, make for viewing at home as top-notch as it was in the theater.

Now that Whoopie Goldberg and Jean Stapleton have brought the "Bagdad Cafe" to television, we suggest you rent the video of the same name.

Video viewers beware! Double check any movie that you haven't heard of that bears the plaudits of Siskel and Ebert. My sad experience is that they're usually bad dub-ins (a fact not mentioned on the tape cover) or else they have a plot that is so thick, as well as deep that the whole thing turns into real yawnsville.

Sondheim's 'Into the Woods' opens

Stephen Sondheim's award-winning musical 'Into the Woods' opens this week at Marriott's Lincolnshire Theatre. In a take-off on 'Jack and the Beanstalk,' from left are Delores Noah as Jack's mother and Sam Samuelson as Jack. This is the first co-production venture between producers William Pullinsi and Anthony D'Angelo of Candlelight

Murder and mirth abound in new show

The Kirk Players' 24th Season Grand Finale, "The Musical Comedy Murders of 1940," will be presented at the Mundelein High School theater on Friday and Saturday, May 11 and 12 at 8 p.m. All proceeds will be donated to the Lake County Arts Council.

"The Musical Comedy Murders of 1940" is an action packed comedy and a fiendishly mysterious whodunit, that's all rolled up into one brilliant package. Author John Bishop sets the scene inside performer Mary Jo Pippenger of Hawthorn Woods.

Also in her premier appearance is yet another guest performer, Marjunice Weingandt of Barrington as the ever-present German maid Helsa Wenzel.

The balance of the cast features many Kirk Players favorites. Bob Thomas of Barrington becomes Patrick O'Reilly, a tenor who is "as Irish as Paddy's cow." Thomas is also the Players' technical director.

Another Kirk veteran, Floyd Baker of Vernon Hills, portrays the wishfully talented director, Ken De La Maize. Bill Phillips of Buffalo Grove is Roger Hopewell, the mild mannered composer.

The beautiful young dancer, Nikki Crandall, is played by Debra Meiszala of Mundelein, while the handsome yet-to-be-discovered comedian, Eddie McCuen, is portrayed by Russ Slade of Mundelein. The newest Player, Donna Rae Pearlman of Long Grove completes the cast as the generous hostess Elsa Von Grossenknueten.

"The Musical Comedy Murders of 1940" technical staff includes Carl Johnson, stage manager; George Frake, set design; Thom Koch Jr., lighting director; Matt Erickson, sound; Maureen Cook Slade, Sheila Bourque, Janet Walker and Donna Lynn, props; Bonnie Graser and Lynne Gomoll, costumes.

Ticket prices are adults $5, students $3, senior citizens and children under 12 $2. They are available from representatives of the Lake County Arts Council, the Kirk Players, or may be purchased at the door. For further information call John Lynn at (708)566-6594.

the library of the secluded estate of Fraulein Elsa Von Grossenknueten. Night has fallen, a wicked storm is brewing and Elsa's guests will be arriving at any moment. The maid, Helsa Wenzel, is preparing tea when suddenly it begins! A wild tangle of murder, martinis and fine German cuisine.

The Kirk Players' Founder-Director John W. Lynn announced that the show's 10-character cast includes four fresh new talents.

Royden Slade of Mundelein will leave his usual seat in the sound booth to make his stage debut as Sergeant Michael Kelly of the New York Police Dept.

Guest performer Holly Weber, also of Mundelein, portrays Marjorie Baverstock, the wealthy producer who has a rather interesting "control" of the English language.

The character of Bernice Roth, the tipsy, faint-hearted lyricist, is played by guest

College features artists

Barat College seniors Molly Curley and Danielle Oberle are the featured artists in the Reicher Gallery Exhibition opening Thursday, April 26 from 7 to 9 p.m.

The exhibition runs through April 30. Curley and Oberle will be present at the April 26 opening to discuss their work.

Curley, originally from Chicago, will exhibit ceramic pieces for the show. Although most of her works are sculptural, Curley says she will also include one series of mixed media pieces in her exhibit.

Curley's portion of the show is loosely based on the themes described in T.S. Eliot's poem "The Wasteland."

Oberle, a resident of Beverly Shores, Ind., will display a series of recent photographs in the exhibit. Oberle has chosen to focus on color photography and has included a number of unique photograms in her display.

The Reicher Gallery is located on the Barat College campus, 700 E. Westleigh Rd. in Lake Forest. Regular gallery hours run noon to 4 p.m. daily. The Senior Show is free and open to the public.

Even dust has class

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

Let me introduce you to one of the strangest and sometimes mysterious collection of things to ever gather in one spot.

Just take a peek into the bag of your vacuum cleaner and if it's anything like mine, you'll find treasures that seem to convene year round.

When I think about it...

With Easter Sunday now a past tense holiday, I've started to find little pieces of cellophane grass that filled the grand-children's Easter baskets, wafting in corners, piled under chairs and sometimes floating through the air.

If one really wants to find these sparkling, wispy Easter remembrances, the quickest way is to wear something black and presto, several pieces will be attracted to you just like magnet.

Well, this transparent vegetation is in good company since the needles from the "real" Christmas tree that adorned our home last Christmas are still surfacing.

At least I hope those aromatic prickles are from last Christmas. They could be a collection gathering from several past holidays come to think of it since they are not wear-dated.

Then there's the dried flowers I fashioned into a wall hanging several years ago.

I swear I'm still finding some here and there and I haven't served spaghetti for several months.

Of course every vacuum bag gets filled with pet hairs and fur and mine is no different. The thing that puzzles me is that we haven't had a dog for over five years.

Do you suppose those furballs are propagating and regenerating themselves like Hollywood's gremlins?

And now that glitz and glitter is fashionable, little sparkles can be found in the strangest spots long after the party is over.

Taking into consideration a sequin's mobility, based on its lighter than air make-up, I can understand this, but I still wonder what those glittering green baubles were doing inside my Tupperware flour cannister.

Well anyway, even my dust has class!

County is Smouse's stage, he's also one of the players

by GLORIA DAVIS
Entertainment Editor

Broadway has had its Ziegfelds, Hollywood its Orson Wells, television its Steven Brocos, and finally, Lake County has formally recognized its theatrical super star "that does it all," Ken Smouse of Antioch.

He has received "The Excellence in Art Award" from the Lake County Arts Council, a subsidiary of the Ill. Arts Council.

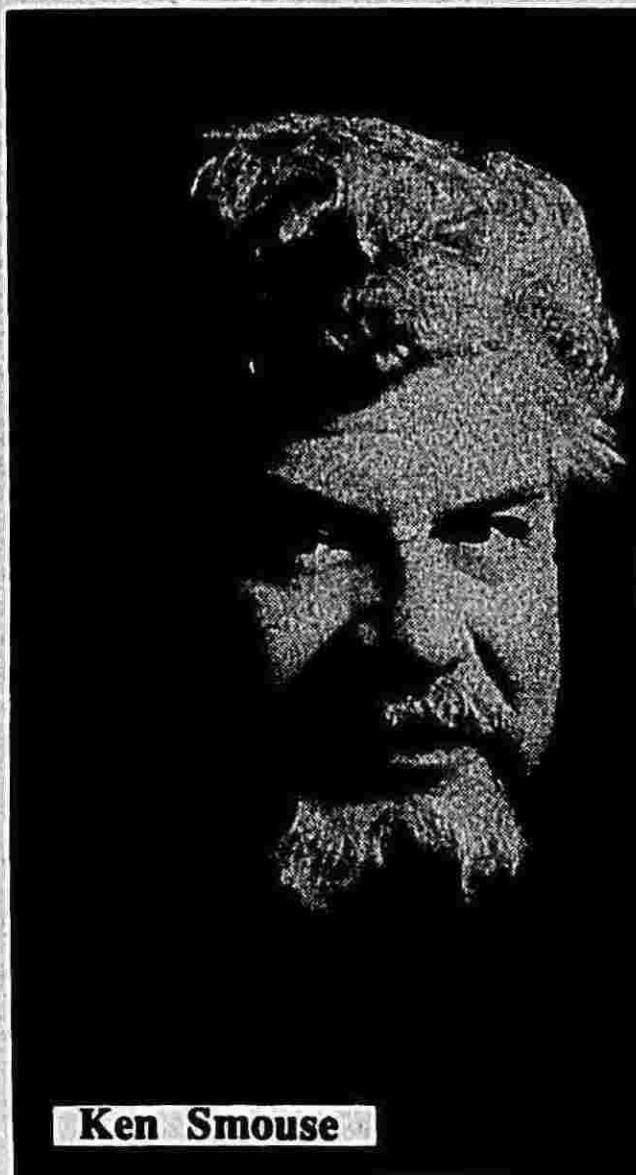

Ken's face and talents have long been apparent in the Lake County area, especially in Antioch.

Although a native of Illinois, the state where the bulk of his life has been spent, Ken did do some professional work with the San Diego Starlight Opera back in the 1950s after he was stationed in California "playing" a guest of Uncle Sam's Marine Corps during the Korean Conflict.

He appeared on the Lake County scene back in 1960, armed with his wife Betty, the beginnings of a family, degrees in music and a teaching, eventually becoming the head of Antioch High School's English department.

During his 30-year teaching career at ACHS, Ken utilized his knowledge of drama, picked-up through years of specialized classes, and was responsible for helping to create a drama-theater department at the high school which he also headed, directing the school musicals for many years.

Ken Smouse

Ken was one of the pioneers of the Palette, Masque and Lyre Theatre (PM&L) over 30 years ago. Having served as its president, directed, acted and having sung in a myriad of productions over the years, he still does at least one production a year for the community theater.

When Ken retired from ACHS a few years ago, he suddenly found himself busier than ever as far as his love of show business was concerned.

He did some tv commercials for fun, some free-lance directing and producing, and suddenly found himself the first director of the Bowen Theatre Co. in the Jack Benny Center in Waukegan.

He then became the stage director for the Bowen Park Opera.

Ken says he intends to slow down by turning the directorship of Bowen Park over to Mark Heller, but he will still keep his finger in Lake County's theatrical pie by remaining at the Bowen Opera Co. and also dabbling a bit at PM&L.

For those of us who remember Ken's fine performance and resonant singing voice delivered in such roles as Tevye in "Fiddler on the Roof," and many other musicals, or who have seen any of the well-directed classics to come out of Bowen Park in the last few years, the fine arts award came as no surprise, just a well-deserved honor.

Homegrown talent at park fest

Plans are set for the 10th Annual "Art in the Park" arts and crafts festival sponsored by the McHenry Area Chamber of Commerce. The festival will be held Saturday, July 21 at Veteran's Memorial Park, McHenry, from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. The picturesque park will be the setting for a wide variety of fine art and selected crafts.

Throughout the day, there will be entertainment in the gazebo. Fairgoers will enjoy performances by favorite local talent as well as the illusions of magician Bruce Young.

Artists who would like to participate should contact Debra Gust, 2911 Rosedale Rd., McHenry, IL 60050, or call (815)385-1163. An entry fee of $35, slides of current work and an S.A.S.E. should accompany the application. Deadline for entry is May 1.

Mom Likes To Cook

By Randee Rian

There are stews and there are stews...They range from inexpensive, easily cooked dishes to the more complicated, made with expensive, sometimes exotic ingredients. My recipes can be used as guides, with imagination, you can combine different meats and vegetables and add other herbs and spices for new tastes.

Just remember: simple or glamorous, with proper cooking and seasoning, every stew will be a joy to eat.

Chicken with peanuts

Peanuts add a southern touch; a good, hearty stew served with fresh steamed, buttered broccoli and cauliflower.

- 4 to 5 lb. stewing chicken, cut up
- 2 Tbl. oil
- 1 tsp. paprika 2 Tbl. butter
- 2 medium onions, thinly sliced
- 1/4 pepper 2 tsp. salt
- 3 cups chicken broth 2 Tbl. chopped pimento
- 3 Tbl. flour 1/2 cup water
- 1/3 cup finely chopped salted peanuts
- Hot cooked rice

Wash chicken and dry well on paper toweling. Heat oil and butter in large heavy saucepan or Dutch oven and add chicken. Sprinkle with paprika and cook, turning, until browned on all sides. Lift out chicken pieces as they brown. Drain all but 1 Tbl. fat from pan when chicken has been removed. Add onions and cook gently 3 minutes, stirring.

Return chicken to pan and add salt, pepper, pimento and use 3 cups chicken broth. Cover tightly and simmer until chicken is tender. (This should take about 1 hour. Lift chicken out of liquid and keep warm. Combine 1/2 cup water and flour, blending until smooth. Gradually stir into liquid in pan. Add peanuts. Cook gently, stirring constantly, until thickened and smooth. Add salt and pepper to taste. Return chicken to gravy and heat well. Serve with hot cooked rice.

Hot Mexican chicken

This zippy chicken stew is delicious with the addition of the sliced green pepper and raisins. Serve with hot rice and icy cold avocados with fresh lime wedges.

- 2 1/2 to 3 lb. chicken, cut-up
- 1/3 cup flour 1/8 tsp. pepper
- 1 tsp. salt 1/2 tsp. paprika
- 1 clove garlic, crushed 3 Tbl. oil
- 2 green peppers, cut in thin strips
- 1 cup water 1 cup orange juice
- 1 tsp. crushed chili peppers
- 2/3 cup seedless raisins

Combine flour, paprika, salt and pepper in a flat dish. Dry chicken pieces with paper towelling and roll in flour mixture to coat on all sides. (Save any extra flour).

Heat oil in heavy skillet. Add chicken and brown well on all sides. Push chicken to one side of skillet and add garlic and green peppers to drippings. Cook gently, stirring, 5 minutes. Sprinkle in flour left from coating chicken and stir to blend. Stir in orange juice and water gradually. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Sprinkle in chili peppers and raisins. Cover pan and simmer until chicken is tender, 30 to 45 minutes, turning chicken occasionally. (If you are using an electric skillet you may have to add more liquid-use water or orange juice).

Note: The crushed peppers make this dish quite hot-if you prefer it milder use only 1/2 tsp. crushed chili peppers.

Old-Fashioned Swiss steak

My Dad's favorite recipe. We would serve it over small boiled potatoes. Accompany with cooked baby carrots and hard rolls. This is for you, Dad!

- 1 tsp. salt 2 Tbl. flour
- 1/2 tsp. paprika 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1 1/2 lb. round steak, cut 1 inch thick
- 19 oz. can tomatoes 2 Tbl. oil
- 3 large onions, sliced thin
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1 small bay leaf, crumbled
- 1/2 tsp. dried leaf oregano
- 1 Tbl. Worcestershire sauce.

Ten Reasons To Fly From Milwaukee

by JIM WARNKEN
PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

My space is limited, so I'll skip the intro and get right to the facts as to why I choose Milwaukee's Mitchell Field over O'Hare.

1. Cheap Parking. Compare O'Hare's garage parking at $12 a day to Milwaukee's much more convenient inside parking at $3.50. A tip. If you can, park on level three and you will have no need for stairs, elevators or escalators. Just a straight walk of no more than 5 minutes all the way to your gate.

2. Cheap Airfares. Two airlines, American and United, dominate O'Hare departures. Unless these two big guys get into a fare war with each other, they pretty much set the price. Milwaukee departures, on the other hand, have Northwest's 15% share as the largest, the other 85% split among lots of other carriers. More competition, lower prices. One draw back though, you are still more likely to get a non-stop from O'Hare. This is changing as more airlines make Milwaukee a hub.

3. Easy to get to. Like O'Hare, Mitchell Field is connected to the interstate. Unlike O'Hare, when you exit the interstate you can expect to be at the terminal within a couple of minutes. Living in Lake Villa, I find Mitchell Field to be a little further than O'Hare, but with the 65 MPH on I-94 and much less traffic, I find the driving time to be about the same.

4. Real neat concessions. I can't pass by Famous Amos Cookies without getting a couple for the trip. Sure beats airline food. If you want something to read during that four hour flight to Los Angeles, skip the overpriced news stands and head for the used book store.

Well, I'm out of space, but not out of reasons to use Mitchell. I really have at least six more.

NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

(708) 356-3010

Combine flour, salt, pepper, and paprika. Sprinkle half over one side of steak and pound with a mallet or the edge of a heavy plate. Repeat with second side of steak.

Cut steak into serving-size pieces. Heat oil in large skillet. Add meat and brown slowly on both sides. Add remaining ingredients, cover tightly and simmer until meat is fork tender, about 2 hours.

Beef Goulash

Wonderful, rib-sticking beef goulash. This is another stew that gets better made the day before serving. Great for buffet entertaining.

- 2 1/2 lb. stewing beef, cubed
- 3 Tbl. oil flour
- 3 medium onions, sliced
- 1/2 tsp. pepper 2 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. dried leaf marjoram 1 Tbl. paprika
- 1 tsp. caraway seeds 1 clove garlic, chopped
- 1 cup sour cream boiling water
- hot buttered noodles or boiled potatoes

Dredge meat in flour. Heat oil in heavy saucepan and brown onions lightly. Lift out onions with slotted spoon. Brown meat in remaining oil (add a little more oil if needed to prevent burning). Add onions, salt, pepper, paprika, marjoram, garlic and caraway seeds. Add enough boiling water to cover meat. Cover and cook over low heat about 2 hours, or until meat is tender. Remove cover for last 30 minutes to allow gravy to thicken a bit. Add a little of the hot mixture to the sour cream and stir to blend. Stir back into pan and heat but do not boil.

Serve with buttered noodles.

Note: you may substitute beef broth for the boiling water.

Nagasaka takes 1st place in Young Artist Contest

The Waukegan Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of guest conductor Ray Fowler, performed the 10th annual Young Artist's Competition on Saturday, April 8, in Waukegan.

First place and the winner of $500 was Ikuko Nagasaka from Northbrook second place, the winner of $250 was Mona Marie Knock of Chicago and third place and the winner of $100 was Maggie Cheng of Northbrook.

"It has been a pleasure to work with such talented students," stated Fowler.

Music

Nagasaka performed the first movement of Barber's Piano Concerto. She is in the 11th grade at Glenbrook North High School. She began piano studies at the age of six in Japan, but Nagasaka says that it was her present teacher, Carolyn McCracken, who influenced her to become serious about playing the piano. Some of Nagasaka's achievements include first prizes in the Society of American Musicians, St. Paul Federal Musical Arts and Chicago Area Music Teachers Assn. She will later this year participate in an international competition overseas.

Knock performed the first movement of Saint Saens' Violin Concerto No. 3. Knock is in the eighth grade at the University of Chicago Laboratory School.

She has been studying the violin since she was three and her current teacher is Ali Forough. Some of her achievements include a medalist of the Sudler Finals of the Illinois Young Performers Competition, a finalist of the Conrad Sulzer Regional Library Young Artists Competition and the winner of the St. Paul Federal Musical Arts Competition.

Cheng performed the first movement of Prokofiev's Piano Concerto No. 1. Cheng attends Wood Oak Junior High where she is in the seventh grade. She currently studies with Donna Kuhel. Some of Cheng's awards have been first place for two years in the Society of American Musicians, first place in the Barrington Park Dist. Competition and second place in the Young Keyboard Artists Assn. International Competition.

Ride the Opryland train on Lakeland Music tour

by DENNIS AND MARY O'BRIEN

Members of Lakeland Newspapers Nashville Bash Tour will be among the more than two million people who visit Opryland Theme Park this year. Kids love the place, but this is a grown-up theme park and there's no doubt about what the theme is-music, the only possibility in Music City, U.S.A.

Throughout the park, live shows are often performed at the same time on a dozen different stages. Because Nashville is an entertainer's city, performers know that theatrical and record producers may be in the audience and they reach beyond good, striving for stellar performances. One well-known critic recently wrote, "Opryland shows are of a quality which would not shame the Broadway or London stages."

You won't want to miss "Country Music U.S.A." or "And the Winner is..." and you can take your choice of shows devoted to musical comedy, gospel, bluegrass, nostalgic rock and roll of the '50's or any number of other types of music.

Like theme parks everywhere, Opryland also has a generous mixture of rides that range from wild to mild. "The Grizzly River Rampage" is a white-water rafting adventure that makes you think you're on a raging river in Tennessee's Great Smoky Mountains.

park, and if the "Screamin' Delta Demon" is not for you, you'll surely enjoy the much milder "Opryland Sky Ride" that lifts you out of the 1950's "Do Wah Diddy City" and deposits you in the "New Orleans" area. The

"Opryland Railroad" uses vintage locomotives to take passengers through and around the entire park.

EYE CARE

News, Views & Questions About Your Eyes

By

Robert L. Epstein, M.D., Director
Illinois Center for Corrective Eye Surgery

QUESTION: I've read that President Bush has glaucoma. What is glaucoma and is it serious?
ANSWER: President Bush is one of an estimated 2 million people over the age of 35 who has glaucoma. This condition results from an excessive build up of the eye's natural fluid. Under normal circumstances, this fluid keeps the eye from collapsing. As fresh fluid is produced, the excess drains out through a meshwork of tissue. If this drainage path is blocked, pressure builds and begins to damage the optic nerve which carries visual images from the eye to the brain. If left untreated, peripheral or side vision is gradually lost, leaving the glaucoma victim with "tunnel vision." Over time blindness usually occurs.

Fortunately for President Bush and many other people who have regular eye examinations, the problem can almost always be diagnosed and controlled, normally with eye drops. If this is not successful, or if the patient has unwanted side effects from the drops, laser surgery may be used to open up the tissue to provide proper fluid drainage.

Col. Bill visits gardens, Tennessee Choo Choo town

We were enroute from Callaway Gardens, Georgia to Chattanooga, Tenn., heading north in the latter stage of our Florida trip. It was interesting but sad to see the summer of Florida slipping away to spring in Georgia and each day the temperatures receded as tree leaves disappeared in favor of just hints of green. Spring flowers, trees and bushes were again abundant with red and white blossoms. It was our second spring in three weeks, and we still have one at home to anticipate.

Passing through LaGrange, a name flashed into my mind from World War II, Sgt. Cadenhead, last seen in 1945, in Germany, 45 years ago. Took a chance to see if he still was there and sure enough, we got together and spent an interesting, nostalgic tow hours reminiscing our time together during WWII. How this get-together could have happened is still a mystery, but unforgettable, and we promised to keep in future touch.

Our stay in Callaway Gardens was motivated by their new Day Butterfly Center with 8,000 square feet of properly heated and moisturized space for butterflies to live and be comfortable as visitors walk among them to study, photo and enjoy these exotic beauties from foreign lands.

Local butterflies feed on outdoor flowers placed to attract them, but do no mix. There is no other place in North America like it...This is the Georgia equivalent of Disneyland, says their manager.

Nearly all 750,000 visitors to Callaway Gardens make it a point to see the butterflies, even though it is only a relatively small part of their 14,000 acres dedicated to horticulture, wildlife, wilderness, recreation and education.

Started some 60 years ago by Cason Callaway, Sr., it was aimed at preserving flora and fauna of Georgia, then slipping away into cotton fields. For generations to come, a recreational and educational pleasure area now can be seen.

Miles of winding, narrow roads allow vehicles and bikes to explore the scenery, the majority are one-way with a 20 mph limit. Hiking trails criss-cross the area and for patterned hikers, 63 holes of wonderful golf nestles amid lakes and waterways so that anyone who develops a sharp hook on the course can stop and fish the lakes.

Electric motored boats may be rented for fishing to avoid excessive noise and fuss in the tranquil 13-lake setting.

Created as a non-profit foundation, a separate division handles the resort complex that helps support the annual $6 million budget, with income from the 350 room Gardens Inn, 155 woodland cottages and 49 villas.

These gardens have now become a favorite enroute-destination for travelers going further south in winter or southerners seeking summer heat relief.

It is also an increasingly popular spot for tour busses to visit with senior travelers, and now, school busses bring students of the outdoors and nature to view its remade perfection, dedicated to education for all ages.

Callaway Gardens can be reached by writing Pine Mountain, GA 31822 or by calling 1(404)663-5186 for information about the grounds and recreational facilities.

As we left for Chattanooga, Tenn. over Rte. 27, the back roads were much more scenic than the interstates, narrower and slower due to the towns and cross roads, but in our destination, more direct and interesting.

Georgia clay is red, almost orange and obliterates the color of rural road vehicles during the wet season.

Chattanooga chugged into view that afternoon without even saying "Pardon me, Boy" as we tracked into the Radisson for a two-day visit to Choo-Choo town.

Lakeland Newspapers' Spring Car Care

Tips for preparing your car for summer months

Did you gather up every product under your kitchen sink and charge out to your driveway to wash your family car last spring? Your intentions were probably good, but using "kitchen" products on your car can be disastrous!

It's important to prepare your vehicle for the summer months, when the intensity of sunlight, heat, and localized air pollution are at a peak and can prematurely age your car's good looks. With some simple pre-summer tips and just four products, you can keep that finish looking as good as new.

Before rushing out to the driveway with dish detergent in hand, consider this, liquid detergent is formulated for glass and china, not metal. Just as it strips the grease from your dishes, it can also strip the wax off your car. Was the car regularly using a product specifically formulated for automotive use.

Selecting the proper car wax is equally important. In the past, waxes contained harsh abrasives designed to remove the oxidation from faded enamel on older cars. But these harsh abrasives can scratch the new multi-layered and clear coat paints found on most cars built after 1980. Look for a car wax designed specifically for today's paints. These new generation waxes, formulated with micro-fine polishing agents, provide a great shine and long-lasting protection.

Also, be careful of using household products to clean your car's interior. Some household products actually warn against use on soft vinyl and aluminum. Instead, use a multi-purpose car cleaner which replaces all those single product cleaners. This saves you money, time, and guarantees safe cleaning on all automotive surfaces with effective results.

The sun's harmful ultraviolet rays can do irreversible damage to your car's vinyl, plastic and rubber surfaces. Use a protectant which actually penetrates these surfaces.

Tune-ups recommended every 30,000 miles

To keep cars in top condition, do-it-yourselfers tend to needlessly replace spark plugs well before the recommended mileage interval, yet other important tune-up parts are often neglected when replacement is recommended.

For reliable performance with modern, high-voltage ignition systems, spark plugs, distributor caps, rotors, and plug wires should be replaced at 30,000 mile intervals. Replacing these parts can prevent some of the following performance problems.

- erratic idle and hesitation
- poor fuel economy

- erratic shifting with automatic transmissions
  - loss of power at high RPMs
  - failure to pass emissions inspection
- Engine heat is the main reason why plug wires in particular, as well as distributor caps and rotors, should be replaced every 30,000 miles. Plug wires are usually close to exhaust manifolds, where they get baked pretty badly.

Also, to satisfy emission standards, normal engine operating temperatures have increased to around 220 degrees for later model cars. The trend to downsized cars has just concentrated this heat in a smaller area under the hood.

Modern ignition systems generally operate in the 20-50,000 volt range or higher. That's a lot of juice compared to the 5,000 volt breaker point ignition systems of yesteryear.

Since 30,000 volts can arc a spark an inch and a half, any breakdown in the insulating properties of the cap, rotor or wire can allow the spark to arc to ground before it reaches the plug. This is why it's so important to keep caps, rotors and wires in top notch condition.

With a properly functioning modern ignition system the spark plugs will still be clean after 30,000 miles. However, after long exposure to 2,000 degree combustion temperatures, spark plugs suffer from erosion. Plugs should be replaced at 30,000 miles because they will be eroded, not because they are dirty.

In a modern ignition system, dirty plugs before 20,000 miles indicate some other problems such as a cylinder blowing oil.

The 1980's have brought many advances in electronic engine controls. During this period of change to fuel injection and electronic ignition, many different bugs have developed in many different models. Automotive suppliers have issued volumes of technical information to keep professional technicians aware of specific problems with specific models. Information in which most do-it-yourselfers do not have ready access to or the training and experience to go along with it. As a result, a car owner may spend hours beating his head against a brick wall trying to solve a performance problem that a qualified service specialist would correct as standard procedure during routine maintenance.

The other major aspect of a modern tune-up is filter replacement.

Considering a used car?

If the thought of buying a used car leaves you in a cold sweat, there are several steps you can take to help you get the best possible car for your money and quite possibly a lot more car than you expected. Buyers should remember the following tips when purchasing a pre-owned car:

- Buy from a reputable dealer, preferably one that sells and services new cars. Those dealers usually have the facilities to ensure that the car is in good condition, and can handle any problems that arise after you've driven the car off the lot.

- Look for signs that may indicate that the car has been in an accident or is beginning to rust. Look under the hood and check for excess oil in the engine compartment, it signals that the car has an oil leak. Also look at the ground underneath the car for any signs of fluid leakage.

- Check the interior to make sure that all accessories, such as power windows and air-conditioning, are in good working order. Finally, take the car for a test drive before buying it.

- Read the warranty carefully to see what the dealer's obligations are, as well as your own.

Lakeland Newspapers' Spring Car Care

Hot weather makes own special demands on summer drivers

When it comes to car care, fair weather seems to lull some motorists into a false sense of security. Many vacationers traveling by car or light truck this summer will learn too late that hot weather makes its own special demands.

The National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE), a non-profit organization which administers national certification tests to auto, truck, and collision repair technicians, offers the following tips to help you get ready for summer driving. Some are easy to do; others will require the skilled hands of a professional auto technician.

1. Getting started. Whether or not you are a do-it-yourselfer, get involved in the care care process. Start by reading your owner's manual. It contains a wealth of information about your vehicle and its components. The manufacturer's recommended service schedules are listed and should be followed. A survey of 400 of the nation's ASE-certified automotive technicians revealed that owners could extend the life of their vehicle by 50 percent or more if they had routine maintenance performed on a timely basis.

2. General cleaning. A dirty, streaked windshield causes eye strain and can be unsafe. Replace worn blades, winter's tough on them, and make certain you have plenty of washer fluid to fight the dust and insects of summer. Don't forget to clean the inside of the windshield too.

A dirty, cluttered interior can cause unnecessary stress, so a thorough cleaning is in order, especially if you plan to travel with children and lots of luggage.

Keep your exterior in top shape by using a gentle detergent formulated for washing vehicles and a good grade of wax or polish. To prevent scratching, never clean today's headlights and taillights with dry rags.

3. Cooling system. The number one cause of summer breakdowns is over-heating. The cooling system should be completely flushed and refilled about every 24 months. The level, condition, and concentration of the coolant should be checked periodically. Never remove the radiator cap until the engine has cooled down. A 50/50 mix of anti-freeze and water is usually recommended. The tightness and condition of drive belts, clamps, and hoses should be checked by a pro.

4. Air conditioning. How long has it been since your air conditioner was serviced? A marginally operating air conditioning system is likely to fail in hot weather. Have your system examined at a good repair shop.

5. Engine performance. Engine drivability problems such as a rough idling, hard starts, stalling, and diminished power should be corrected. The air, fuel, and PCV filters should be replaced according to the manufacturers' recommendations, more often in dusty conditions.

6. Engine oil. The old-fashioned oil change is one of the most vital maintenance tasks, yet paradoxically, it is also one of the most neglected. The oil and filter should be changed as specified in your owner's manual, more often (every 3,000 miles), if you plan long driving with luggage or a trailer in tow, or if you make many short, stop-and-go-trips.

7. Tires. Tires, too, are often neglected, robbing owners of thousands of miles of useable tread life and posing a potential safety hazard. Tires should be rotated about every 5,000 miles. The air pressure should be checked once a month; let the tires cool down first. Check the sidewalls for nicks and cuts. Examine tires for tread life, uneven wearing and cupping.

An alignment is warranted if your vehicle "pulls" while you are driving on a straight road or if there's uneven tread wear. Cupping (treads look as though they've been cupped out of the tire) indicates a balance problem. Remember to check your spare tire and make certain your jack is in good working condition.

8. Brakes. Regular maintenance will extend the life of your brakes and will prevent more costly repairs due to neglect. Brakes should be inspected as recommended by your manual, or sooner if you notice pulsations, grabbing, noises, or longer stopping distances.

Vehicle alarm systems offer protection

An optional feature called starter interrupt further deters theft by preventing the thief from starting the vehicle.

The alarm systems, which cost between $100 and $300, not only protect the vehicle from theft, but can save owners additional expense through insurance premium discounts.

Crime statistics show that vehicle theft has risen 11 percent nationally from 1987 to 1988, a vehicle is stolen every 22 seconds.

Aside from the obvious inconvenience to the victim, is the astronomical impact on insurance claims, an overwhelming $7 billion was paid in 1988.

Adding to the problem is the increased use of sophisticated equipment such as cellular phones, stereo systems, radar detectors and on-board electronics in today's vehicles, all easy target for thieves.

To counter the trend, consumers have turned to vehicle alarm systems to protect their valuable investment. And they're finding that other benefits come with the purchase.

Remote controlled alarm systems offer the convenience of turning on interior lights and triggering door, trunk and window locks from a distance of 50 feet or less.

Other features in an alarms offer the systems to activate themselves automatically after the vehicle is turned off so the driver doesn't need to remember to arm the alarm.

Some systems have an electronic shock sensor which sounds an attention-grabbing high pitched horn whenever the vehicle is struck, moved, jacked-up or opened. After sounding for 60 to 120 seconds, the alarm will re-arm, providing continuous vehicle protection.

Where do you dispose of used motor oil?

Those of you who perform your own oil changes probably aren't sure what to do with that gallon of black, used motor oil of sloshing around in your drain pan. Should you:

A. Pour it down a drain or into the sanitary sewer system?

B. Pour it over a gravel road to keep down the dust?

C. Pour it over the ground in an out-of-the-way corner of your yard?

D. Place it in a sealed container in your trash?

If you answered "Yes" to any of these choices, read on.

The U.S. Department of Energy estimates that 61 percent of do-it-yourselfers oil changers improperly dispose of their used motor oil. Do-it-yourselfers produce about 391 million gallons of used oil a year, so almost 240 million gallons of used motor oil are dumped into our soil and water each year.

Pouring used oil into the storm sewer or sanitary sewer system is like giving it a direct pipeline to the water supply. If spread over the ground, the oil will seep into the groundwater, and eventually the water supply. The same is true of putting oil in the trash, when it is taken to the landfill, the container will break and the oil will run into the soil and water.

One quart of oil can ruin the taste of 250,000 gallons of drinking water, according to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. That same quart can produce a film two acres wide on the surface of water. It can kill plants and animals in water and cause serious damage to equipment at water treatment facilities.

On the other hand, used oil can be collected and reprocessed for new products, such as a fuel oil substitute for industrial uses. The American Petroleum Institute estimates that if all of the used motor oil generated in the U.S. could be collected and burned for electricity, it would meet the needs of 900,000 homes a year.

So what can you do with that used motor oil? The best solution is to find a used motor oil collection center in your community that will take your oil and properly dispose of it.

Summer

(Continued from Page 29) failure with cold weather. But batteries can fail in hot weather too. The only accurate way to detect a weak battery is with the professional equipment available at good repair shops, but most people can perform routine care. Scrape away corrosion from posts and cable connections; clean all surfaces; re-tighten all connections. Wear eye protection and rubber gloves to avoid contact with the corrosive deposits and acid.

10. Finding a good auto service. An integral part of the car care process includes finding good repair and service. An increasingly popular way to judge the technical know-how of individual technicians is to look for certification. The ASE conducts the only national, industry-wide competency testing program for working technicians.

There are also ways to judge repair shops by asking friends and associates of their recommendations.

PRIMROSE 3

The entrance to the Primrose 3 puts one in mind of a capitol rotunda, with its curved portico outside and vaulted foyer bordered by an open circular staircase inside. While the same stately tone carries over into the high-ceilinged formal living room and oval-shaped dining room, the rest of this large contemporary home is much more relaxed.

At its heart is a combined kitchen and family room with a sunny eating nook nestled into a bay window. The L-shaped center island, which houses both a range and a vegetable sink, also doubles as an eating bar. Plenty of counter and storage space here to feed and serve a small platoon of family and friends. Sliding glass doors provide access to a deck that wraps around the entire back of the house, a natural for summertime entertaining.

Since personal computers and modems have made working at home more feasible, many home buyers are requesting home offices. If necessary to keep business and home functions separate, an outside entrance could be added to this one. Having the half-bath so close is a definite plus.

The master suite is downstairs, separate from the other bedrooms. It features a large walk-in closet and double vanities located outside the water closet. A raised nook could either hold a spa, or serve as a small, bright sitting room.

The utility room has plenty of cupboards, counter space for folding clothes, and a fold-down ironing board. Clothing, bed linen and towels, from upstairs, arrive via a laundry chute. This will, no doubt, be put to other uses if there are youngsters in the house.

For a study plan of the PRIMROSE 3 (330-53), send $5.00 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name & number when ordering). Designers, Architects and readers with plans they would like to see featured also are invited to contact Landmark.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

by Charles King Cooper

WEEKLY TIP: You may receive a gift from an admirer.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) There's a tendency to overdo at present. Don't mix business with pleasure. Insisting on your own way now only leads to trouble. A trip may not turn out exactly as planned. Keep romantic expectations reasonable to avert disappointment. Be protective of health.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You can overextend yourself financially. Find less costly ways of having fun. In the company of others, you have a tendency to splurge. Preoccupation with business can lead to problems with loved ones. Making unrealistic assumptions could lead to later regrets.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Health difficulties could ensue, if you overindulge in food and drink. A hangover could put you in a touchy state of mind. You or a loved one is inclined to overspend now. What's more, your judgment may be off when shopping. Safeguard your assets.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Follow through on promises to loved ones, or trouble will ensue. Canceling a planned entertainment could lead to repercussions. Either you or a loved one could be careless with health. Indulging in gossip could lead to subsequent arguments. Be silent.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Watch obnoxious behavior at a party. You could make a fool of yourself and meet with unpleasant repercussions from others. Relatives, especially parents, will be upset if you beg off from an engagement that they had been especially looking forward to.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Don't believe everything you hear now. Pay no heed to rumor or sly innuendo. Mind your own business and all will be well. If you back down on a promise to loan someone money, you'll meet with bitter recriminations. Follow through on commitments.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You have good career ideas, but utilize your intuition in deciding on the right time to present them to others. A close tie seems cold. Sickness could be the reason someone is unable to join you at a festive occasion. A close friend would be happy to fill in.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) A romantic interest or a child could put a damper on your mood. Career discussions augur well. Joint financial moves are indicated. A domestic problem could cause a change in plans. The latter part of the week finds you back on schedule. Attend to the needs of older people.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Lack of feedback from another needn't depress you. Don't solicit opinions from negative types. Energy seems erratic now. Try to keep costs down. Money could be a sore point with a friend. Keep conversations on the light side. Mental pursuits stimulate.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Pessimism on your part will not bring out the best in others. Do-it-yourself projects are favored. Don't be edgy with family members. Avoid touchiness. Heart-to-heart talks will clear up misunderstandings. Don't carry the world on your shoulders.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A party may be disappointing in some way. You'll need to watch spending now. Don't be careless with possessions. Trust intuition. A parent or a friend may find fault with you. However, creative interests are favored. Privacy brings you valuable insights.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) A sense of embarrassment may put you in the mood for quiet times. Don't brood about the past. A friend is willing to listen. A loved one's hurt feelings makes cooperation difficult about money matters. Do your best to mend fences. Friends are helpful.

Serving minors

ANTIOCH — As a part of Mayor Robert Wilton's drive against substance abuse, the Antioch Police Dept., while making undercover checks on village taverns and liquor outlets, arrested three people for selling liquor to minors on April 14. Charged were Christine Gergas, 45, Antioch, Walgreens; Martha Hatfield, 47, Fox Lake, Struggles Restaurant and Anthony Giordano, 22, Antioch, Our Place Restaurant.

Lakefront plans

WAUKEGAN—Tanguay-Burke-Stratton Comprehensive Real Estate Services has unveiled a proposal to build a 15-story office highrise, a hotel and convention center, underground parking, shops and restaurants on two square blocks on Waukegan's lakefront. The plan includes 1.5 million square feet of new development on property bounded by Sheridan Rd. and Madison, Genesee and Water Sts. Existing buildings would be either renovated or torn down. The proposal reportedly has Waukegan officials "ecstatic."

Welcomes McKay

GRAYSLAKE—After more than 40 years as a next-door-neighbor, Florence McKay is now a resident of Grayslake. The village board made it official Monday night when it accepted 26 acres of land as a donation from McKay. It also accepted a 10 foot strip which will link sewer and water service to Washington St. The McKay property is located west of Mariner's Cove subdivision. Trustee Pat Carey voted against the donation.

10% water rate hike

MUNDELEIN—Water and sewer rates will go up 10 percent to $3.41 per 100 cubic feet starting June 1, a 34-cent increase. Village trustees approved the rate hike to help pay for the last year of a six-year water-main replacement program. This means the average customer using 17 billing units per two-month period will pay $57.97.

Homestead program

GRAYSLAKE—At 1 p.m. Monday, April 23 at offices located at 33928 N. Rte. 45, the Lake County Housing Authority will announce a new program—the Lake County Homestead Program—devoted to assisting moderate income first-time homebuyers. Program eligibility, operational details, and application procedures will be discussed. It is expected that Lake County Board Chairman Norman Geary, board members John Reindl and John Balen, and Lake County Planning Director Robert Chave will join Lake County Housing Authority Board members and staff in discussing the program's benefits for Lake County. Representatives from a number of local cooperating mortgage lenders will also be available.

Noise concerns

GURNEE—Anthony Stella has not had a good night's sleep in months. The culprit, Stella told the Gurnee Village Board Monday, is a loud, annoying air compressor at the Anchor Glass plant west of his home. "It sounds like somebody's hitting the side of your building with a hammer," Stella said. Other neighbors complained that "it's a perpetual noise that goes on all night long."

Demos get top spot

WAUKEGAN—Democratic candidates will be listed first on the November ballot as the result of a drawing in the Lake County Clerk's office. Republican candidates for all offices will be listed next followed by those of the Solidarity Party. This will be the last time the Solidarity Party is on the ballot unless it gets more than five percent of the vote in November.

Break 6 glass doors

LIBERTYVILLE—Doors of six business places in the vicinity of Peterson Rd. and Milwaukee Ave. were found broken between 1 and 6 a.m. April 14. Rocks, bricks and a blunt object were used to break the doors costing $200 to $500. At some places nothing was taken. Missing from a scuba shop is two underwater flashlights and a $350 wet suit. Reed-Hills Florist lost a cash register drawer and TCBY yogurt has a missing cerebral palsy cannister.

Earth Day 1990- goals and objectives

Earth Day 1990, April 22, will mark the beginning of a long-term commitment to building a safe, just, sustainable planet. Its objectives are educational, economic, political and cultural.

Earth Day will launch a decade of the environment, designed to promote biological diversity, human health and regenerative agriculture. It will seek to involve a broad cross-section of society in creating a groundswell of support for environmentally sound products, investments and policies.

Among the specific accomplishments organizers hope to achieve are:

• A worldwide ban on chlorofluorocarbons-which destroy the ozone layer and contribute to global warming-to be fully implemented within five years.

• Slowing the rate of global warming through dramatic, sustained reductions in carbon dioxide emissions. This will include higher standards for automobile fuel efficiency and the rapid adoption of a transportation system not powered by fossil fuels.

• The preservation of old-growth forests, in both temperate and tropical areas.

• A ban on packaging that is neither recyclable nor biodegradable and the implementation of strong, effective recycling programs in every community.

• A swift transition to renewable energy resources.

• Dramatic increases in residential and industrial energy efficiency.

• A comprehensive hazardous waste minimization program, emphasizing source reduction.

• Heightened protection for endangered species and habitats.

• A powerful international agency with authority to safeguard the atmosphere, the oceans and other global commons from international threats.

• A new sense of responsibility for the protection of the planet by individuals, communities and nations.

Antioch hopes league season brings victories

Antioch High School's baseball team will be hoping that league play will bring consistent performances.

The Sequoits opened the North Suburban Conference portion of the season with two games against Zion-Benton this week and an April 21 contest at powerhouse Stevenson.

The Sequoits had one of those contests which "got away" against Grant in a 5-4 loss Monday.

"You better win the games you should win because it gets tougher during conference season," Antioch Coach Gregg Decker said.

The Sequoits, 1-12, fell victim to their own mistakes in the close loss. Five errors proved costly, including one leading to the winning run.

Dan Lamb was three-for-four for Antioch while Jon DeBernardis, the team's leading hitter, was one-for-four. Joe Rohde was one for two.

If one needs evidence of the importance of variety, then one need not go any farther than Grant Community High School.

For the Grant Bulldogs have been winning in a variety of ways on the baseball diamond this week, making it four wins in five games after a shaky start to the new season.

Clutch relief pitching from Chris Pease led the Bulldogs. Also contributing on the mound were Aaron Foszcz and Ray Baker.

"Our pitching looked better today," Grant Coach Fritz Kazlauskys said.

Grant scored two runs in the first inning as Doug Scott walked, stole second and scored on a single by Pease. Steve Maiworm then doubled Pease home for a 2-0 lead.

Mike Pinkowski doubled and scored on an error for a 3-0 Grant lead in the second.

But Antioch, seeking its second win of the season rallied. Pease homered in the fifth inning.

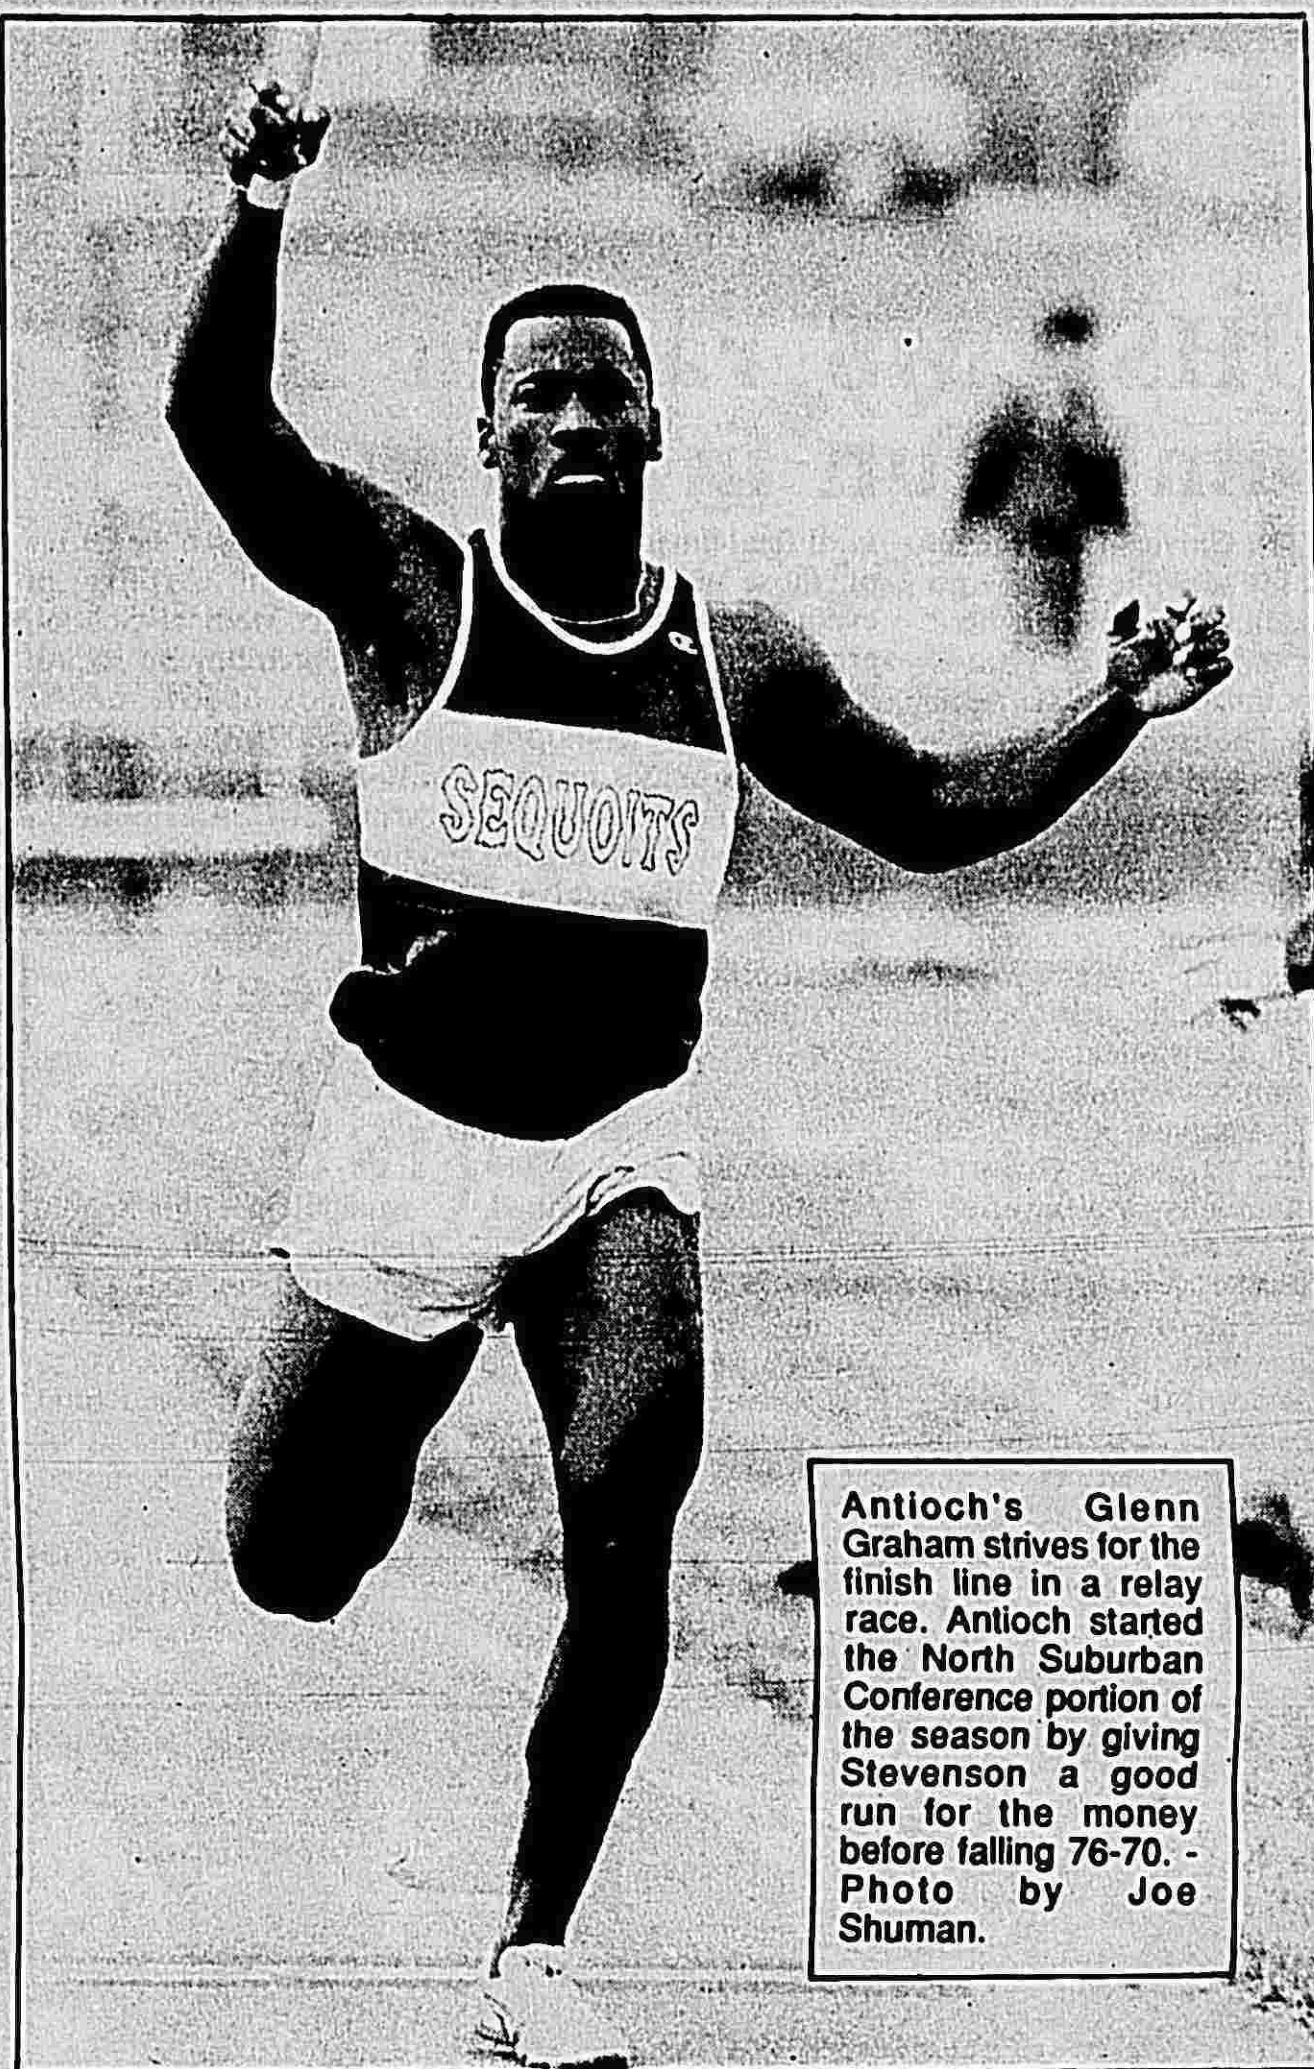

In the seventh, Rick Twarowski singled and Scott and Jason Amedio walked before the winning run scored on an error.

"It came down to making a play we should have made," Decker said.

Grant sandwiched an 12-8 loss to Marengo in between wins over Antioch and Johnsburg.

Against Johnsburg, Grant won 8-3 as Twarowski pitched six innings. Amedio finished the game off with a double play.

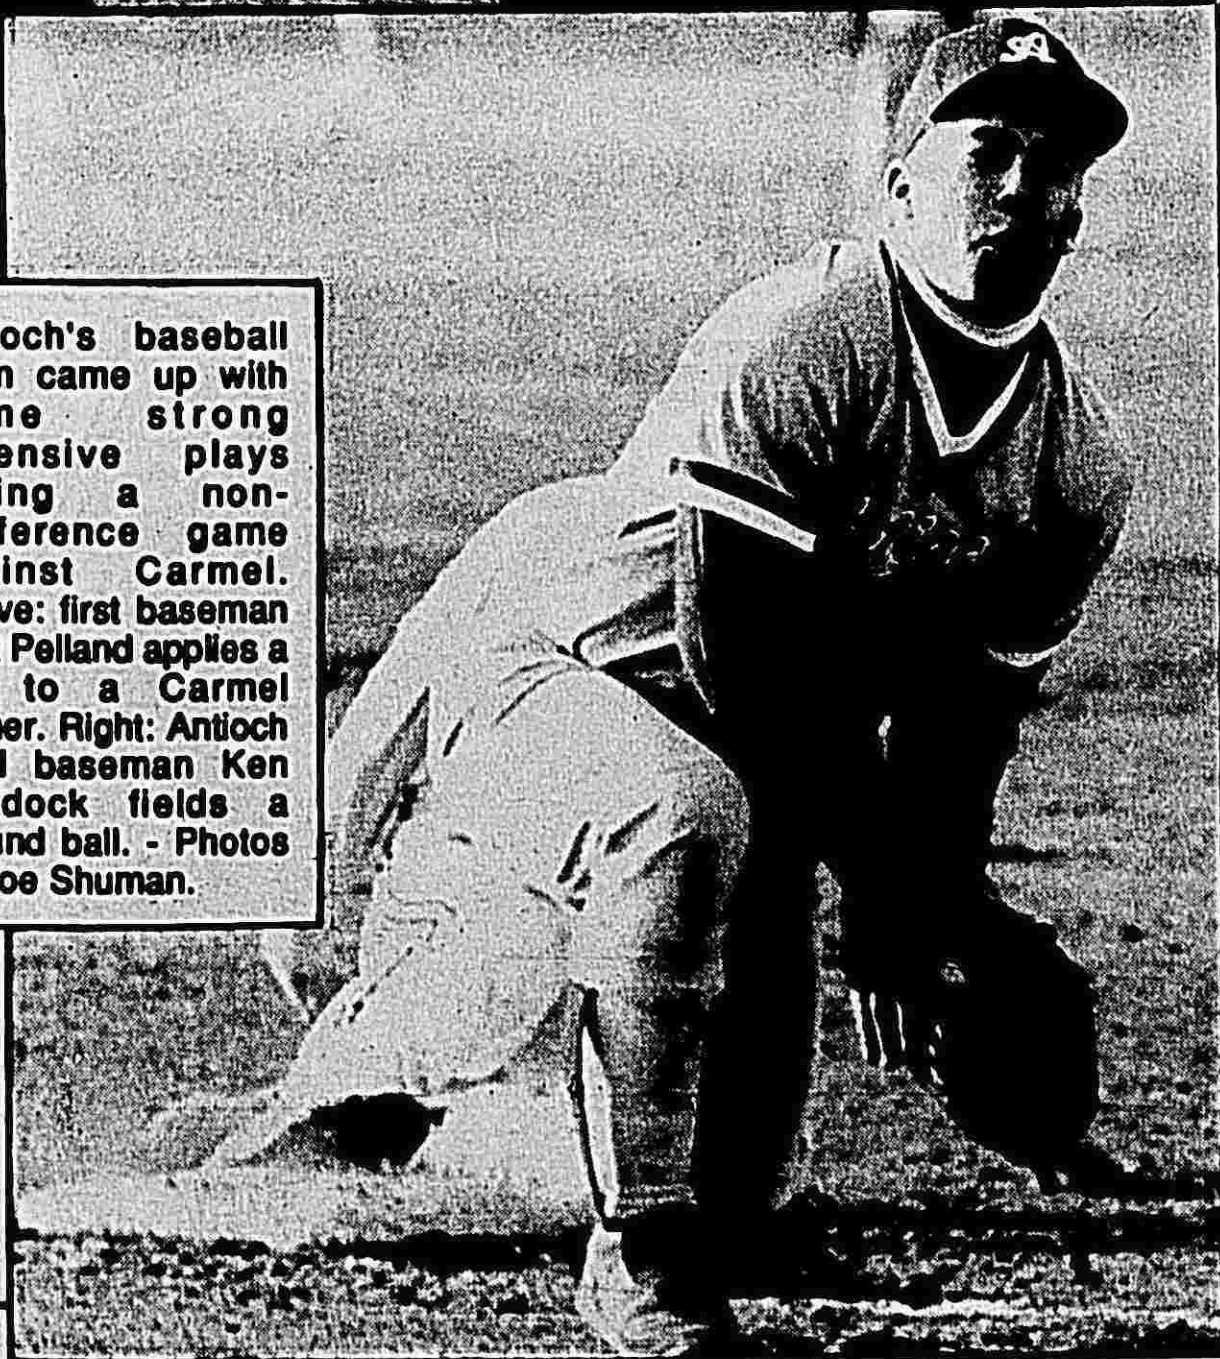

Grant score three times in the first inning, one in the third, two in the fifth and one in the sixth and seventh.

Depth, family feeling may propel netters

Antioch Community High School's tennis team is hoping more depth will translate into a higher North Suburban Conference standing.

The Sequoits have had a successful start, with a 5-4 record in dual meets. The team has a definite family atmosphere, as Coach Frank Cittadino is joined by Eric, a senior, and Scott, a sophomore.

"They handle it better than I do. I just go out of my way not to show favoritism," Cittadino said.

Cittadino, a long-time Grant High mentor, explained his family moved to Lake Villa six years ago but the area was deannexed from Grant to Antioch High.

Antioch has defeated Grant twice which brings Cittadino to torn feelings, as he knows the Grant players well. Other Antioch victims have been Zion-Benton, St. Viator, and Waukegan West.

Eric Cittadino is 5-4 at No. 1 singles while Drew Johnson is 2-0 at number one doubles with Cittadino and 1-1 in two singles matches.

Chris Griffin is 5-3 at second singles while Brian Hovey is 2-1 in doubles and 1-0 in singles matches.

Junior Scott Hammack has won eight of nine singles matches and was the winner at third singles at the Wheeling tourney.

Of the losses, Cittadino said he felt the team fared well against Lake Forest, winning three sets against the NSC powerhouse.

The Sequoits were at Mundelein for an NSC dual meet April 19.

"I'd like to move up to the top three in the conference and get some place winners," Cittadino said of his goals.

Antioch softball squad hopes wins keep coming

Antioch Community High School's girls softball squad continued its strong start for the 1990 season as the Sequoits topped Grayslake 9-3 Monday.

Debbie Wertz was the winning pitcher in the non-conference contest, which raised the Antioch record to 4-0. Wertz pitched four innings in the six-inning contest.

Good defense paved the way, as eight walks were given to Grayslake hitters.

Antioch had six hits, led by Jenny Hagen, who had two.

Antioch scored five runs in the fourth inning and four in the sixth frame.

Grayslake scored single runs in the first, second, third, and fourth innings.

Antioch is scheduled to start North Suburban Conference play this week, at Zion-Benton April 19 and at Stevenson April 21.

Weather halting Lancers from gaining potential

College of Lake County's baseball team may have won 19 of 24 games, but there is one opponent the Lancers have yet to overcome.

Mother Nature has given Lake County a wet and cold start to the spring and that has played havoc for the CLC squad.

"The weather has not allowed us to do that," CLC Coach Gene Hanson said of setting on a starting rotation. "It has been horrible. It has been either too cold or too wet."

Weather woes hurt good teams more than poor or below average squads, Hanson believes.

The Skyway Conference has yet to see all of its teams play as the week began. CLC was washed out of a home doubleheader originally set for Saturday.

The Lancers did manage a doubleheader sweep of Milwaukee Area Technical College last Thursday, winning 16-7 and 14-2.

Both winning pitchers, Paul Sanchez and Jim Lariuz, picked up their second wins of the season. Sanchez, a Warren graduate, had five strikeouts and did not surrender a walk in the first game. Lariuz, a Zion grad, struck out four and walked one in the second contest.

CLC had its hitting at full blast in game one, with five doubles, three triples and four home runs. Tim Unroe, Mark Ledinsky, Matt Wamser and Jared Fogel all hit round trippers.

In game two, Unroe, who leads the team with six home runs, had two and Sam Austin added another. All told, CLC had 27 hits against MATC pitchers - 15 in game one and 12 in game two.

In Skyway Conference play, CLC split its first two games against Elgin with the scores in both games 8-7.

Sanchez was the winning pitcher in game one while Ledinsky suffered his first loss after four wins.

Ledinsky is leading the team in batting average at .415, Brad Dodge is at .390 with 30 RBIs and 16 extra-base hits and Unroe is at a .375 clip.

CLC, Mother Nature allowing, is scheduled to have a busy week, with a home game set for April 19 against Milwaukee MSOE an away battle at Skyway foe Wright in Chicago April 21 and a home battle at noon against South Suburban April 22.

UHS/CMS race to stress family fun in 9th run

The University of Health Sciences/The Chicago Medical School will hold its ninth annual Fitness Footrace on Sunday, April 22. The race, which is co-sponsored by Lambs Farm, Deer Valley and Forest Point, will begin at 9:30 a.m.

The event, traditionally a freshman class project sponsored in conjunction with the student council, attempts to bring together all segments of the local and Lake County Community in a fun-filled day which includes a picnic, musical entertainment and community fitness.

According to David Cozzolino, a freshman at CMS and coordinator of this year's race, the timing of it - just one week prior to the Lake County Marathon - serves as an ideal final tuneup for many of those who enter the event. He indicates that prizes will be awarded in five different male and female age divisions, including trophies for first, second and third place finishers. All participants and staff will receive a specially designed t-shirt for their involvement. Cozzolino says he hopes to draw a record number of runners.

The 10 kilometer (6.2 mile) course, which is The Athletic Congress certified, encompasses Rte. 137 and passes the VA Hospital, winding around into North Chicago and Lake Bluff. Fee for pre-registrants is $10 prior to April 15 and $12 thereafter, including the day of the race. Pre-registration is encouraged and Cozzolino says that entry forms may be obtained through the Office of Student Affairs at Chicago Medical School, 3333 Green Bay Rd., North Chicago, 60064, or by calling (708) 234-3670. Pre-registrants can also write to UHS/CMS Fitness Footrace, Box 293, at the school address.

Sweet helps ISU

Mundelein High School graduate Nathan Sweet is competing in the 1,500 meter run this spring for the Illinois State University track and field team. His best time as of April 7 was 3:58.98, turned in March 31.

The Redbirds finished in third place of five teams at the Indiana tournament.

Fast league beginning top priority for Carmel

Carmel's baseball team entered the first week of competition in the East Suburban Catholic Conference off three strong showings in non-conference encounters.

The Corsairs, who split a doubleheader with Woodstock, raised their record to 9-1 before the April 21 home contests against St. Patricks.

Coach Chuck Gandolphi believes St. Patrick could be a contender this year.

One of his concerns is the lack of games the Corsairs were able to play because of poor weather.

Carmel downed Antioch 9-2, Zion-Benton 14-1 and Warren 7-0 in non-league games.

Against Warren last Thursday, the Corsairs used the one-two punch of Eric Maloney pitching and hitting.

"He looked good. He moved the ball real well," Gandolphi said of Maloney's pitching performance.

The senior was also effective at the plate, going for-for-four with a home run. Chris Splitt and Jim Cooney also hit homers for Carmel. Mark Sasser picked up the loss for Warren.

Cooney was the winning pitcher in a 9-2 win over Antioch. Cooney also contributed a double and Tom Wheeler was two-for-two.

Todd Reutledge picked up the win in the romp over Zion. Outfielder Matt Simmons was a perfect three-for-three.

CHS softball squad evens non-league record

By BRENT KILLACKEY
Lakeland Newspapers

"She's got speed on the ball - she is a real competitor with a great pitcher's mentality," said Carmel varsity softball coach Kris Torkelson. "She takes the challenge and doesn't get rattled easily".

This redheaded, determined pitcher is taking the mound for the Corsairs, hoping to assist the team in its battle for the top place. Junior Jenny Kolacz has helped the corsairs push their overall record to 3-3 prior to the annual battle for bragging rights with crosstown rival and elite eight qualifier Mundelein.

"It's a big rivalry, but it doesn't really mean anything because it is a nonconference game," Torkelson said. "I think they will be able to hit the ball, so our infield better be on its toes. But if they hit the ball, it is fine as we hit the ball back".

Kolacz played on the Mundelein Cobras in the summer league, so she was hoping to have an inside track to against MHS.

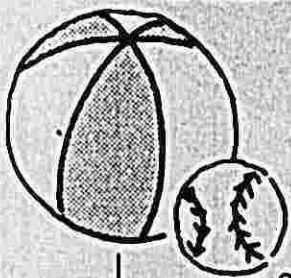

Carmel entered the game after a 4-1 win over St. Ignatius.

Young Pats tracksters looking to make waves

Stevenson High School's boys track and field team knows it is in for one important stretch in the coming two weeks.

The Patriots are a young team but will be hoping to gain confidence against traditional North Suburban Conference powers Libertyville, Lake Forest Fenton and Zion-Benton.

Coach Hank Andrew picks all four squads as possible first-division finishers in the NSC.

"Overall, I am impressed with the competitive attitude," Andrew said.

Stevenson, which battles Fenton and Lake Forest at home April 23.

The Patriots had no trouble with the rain or two NSC foes Monday. SHS downed Mundelein 122-24 and North Chicago 111-35 in league competition.

Sophomore Jonas Jacson was a three-way winner for the Patriots, in the 100 with an 11.5; in the 200 with a 24.24 and in the 400 with a 54.9.

Against Mundelein, Stevenson's 3,200 and 400 meter relay teams both took first places.

All told, Stevenson won all but two of the first-place finishes against the Mustangs.

Junior Travis Phillips was first in the 300 low hurdles, Matt O'Dwyer won the discus, Scott Moesen the shot put, and John Ebert won the 1,600 and 800 meter runs.

Against North Chicago, Stevenson won all but four events with both relays winning again.

In an earlier meet, the Patriots were given a stiffer challenge by Antioch but won 76-70.

Andrew said the Pats' fortunes are aided with the return of assistants Pat Gilmore and Fred Cremer. The two helped the Pats win six titles while SHS was in the Northwest Suburban Conference.

EYE CARE

News, Views & Questions About Your Eyes.

By

Robert L. Epstein, M.D., Director
Illinois Center for Corrective Eye Surgery

QUESTION: I've read that President Bush has glaucoma. What is glaucoma and is it serious?
ANSWER: President Bush is one of an estimated 2 million people over the age of 35 who has glaucoma. This condition results from an excessive build up of the eye's natural fluid. Under normal circumstances, this fluid keeps the eye from collapsing. As fresh fluid is produced, the excess drains out through a meshwork of tissue. If this drainage path is blocked, pressure builds and begins to damage the optic nerve which carries visual images from the eye to the brain. If left untreated, peripheral or side vision is gradually lost, leaving the glaucoma victim with "tunnel vision." Over time blindness usually occurs.

Fortunately for President Bush and many other people who have regular eye examinations, the problem can almost always be diagnosed and controlled, normally with eye drops. If this is not successful, or if the patient has unwanted side effects from the drops, laser surgery may be used to open up the tissue to provide proper fluid drainage.

This year begins on the school's campus in Mundelein, but the major portion of the course will be on the campus of St. Mary of the Lake Seminary. Each student is expected to raise $35 in pledges.

This student fundraising student use.

Last year the student body received pledges for over 100 percent of their quota for the first time in the history of the fundraiser. A second 25-passenger van was purchased, repairs were made to the auditorium stage, and a new sound system for the gym was installed.

Forest preserve plans Earth Day activities

Events ranging from planting of 50,000 trees to a keynote lecture by Former Senator Gaylord Nelson are part of the extensive Earth Day Program being offered by the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist.

Earth Day Coordinator Andrea Moore, a Dist. 5 Commissioner has announced a series of memorial tree plantings on Sunday, April 22, to commemorate Earth Day's 20th Anniversary.

"Earth Day, 1990 will mark a new beginning for Lake County, and for all America, as we begin to take major steps to curb pollution and to protect our environment from the inevitable results of poor planning. This special day offers each of us the opportunity to rededicate our efforts to making this earth, our only earth, a safer, healthier place for all of us, humans, animals, plants, mountains, oceans and streams. We're all in this together," said Moore.

The highly acclaimed

Smith Symposium Lecture Series, sponsored by the Friends of Ryerson, this year will offer three lectures on American's Wetlands. Former Senator Gaylord Nelson, Earth Day's Founder will keynote the first seminar, Sunday, May 6. The series will continue on the following two Sundays.

Ryerson Conservation Center's programs include a "Frog Walk" to visit the ephemeral ponds where frogs croak, thump and drum in their mating rituals on Friday, April 27 at 7:30 p.m.

The memorial tree plantings are scheduled for Bannockburn Retention Site and these forest preserves; Greenbelt, Sterling Lake, Grant Twp., Daniel Wright Woods and Cuba Marsh.

School children from throughout Lake County will plant some of the 50,000 seedlings in various district preserves. Moore said the new trees will be part of the nation's effort to plant up to a billion new trees, a program originally proposed by President George Bush.

Earth Day walks conducted by district naturalists will be offered on Earth Day in Grant Twp. Preserve, Cuba Marsh and at Sterling Lake. Many of the district's commissioners will participate as well in these walks and programs.

On Saturday, April 21 at 6:30 p.m., naturalists will present "An evening with Woodcocks" in Spring Bluff Preserve in Lake County's northeast corner. The program will show participants how to spot woodcocks in the evening skies as they perform their intricate courtship flights.

"I urge everyone in Lake County to come out to their forest preserves on Earth Day, and every day," said Dist. President C. Richard Anderson. "One day is not enough to learn about our Earth, its wonders and secrets, and the risks which the Earth and we all face from environmental misuse."

Resident facing hearing

Ivan Olan of Grayslake is facing a May 2 pre-trial hearing on charges stemming from an incident last week.

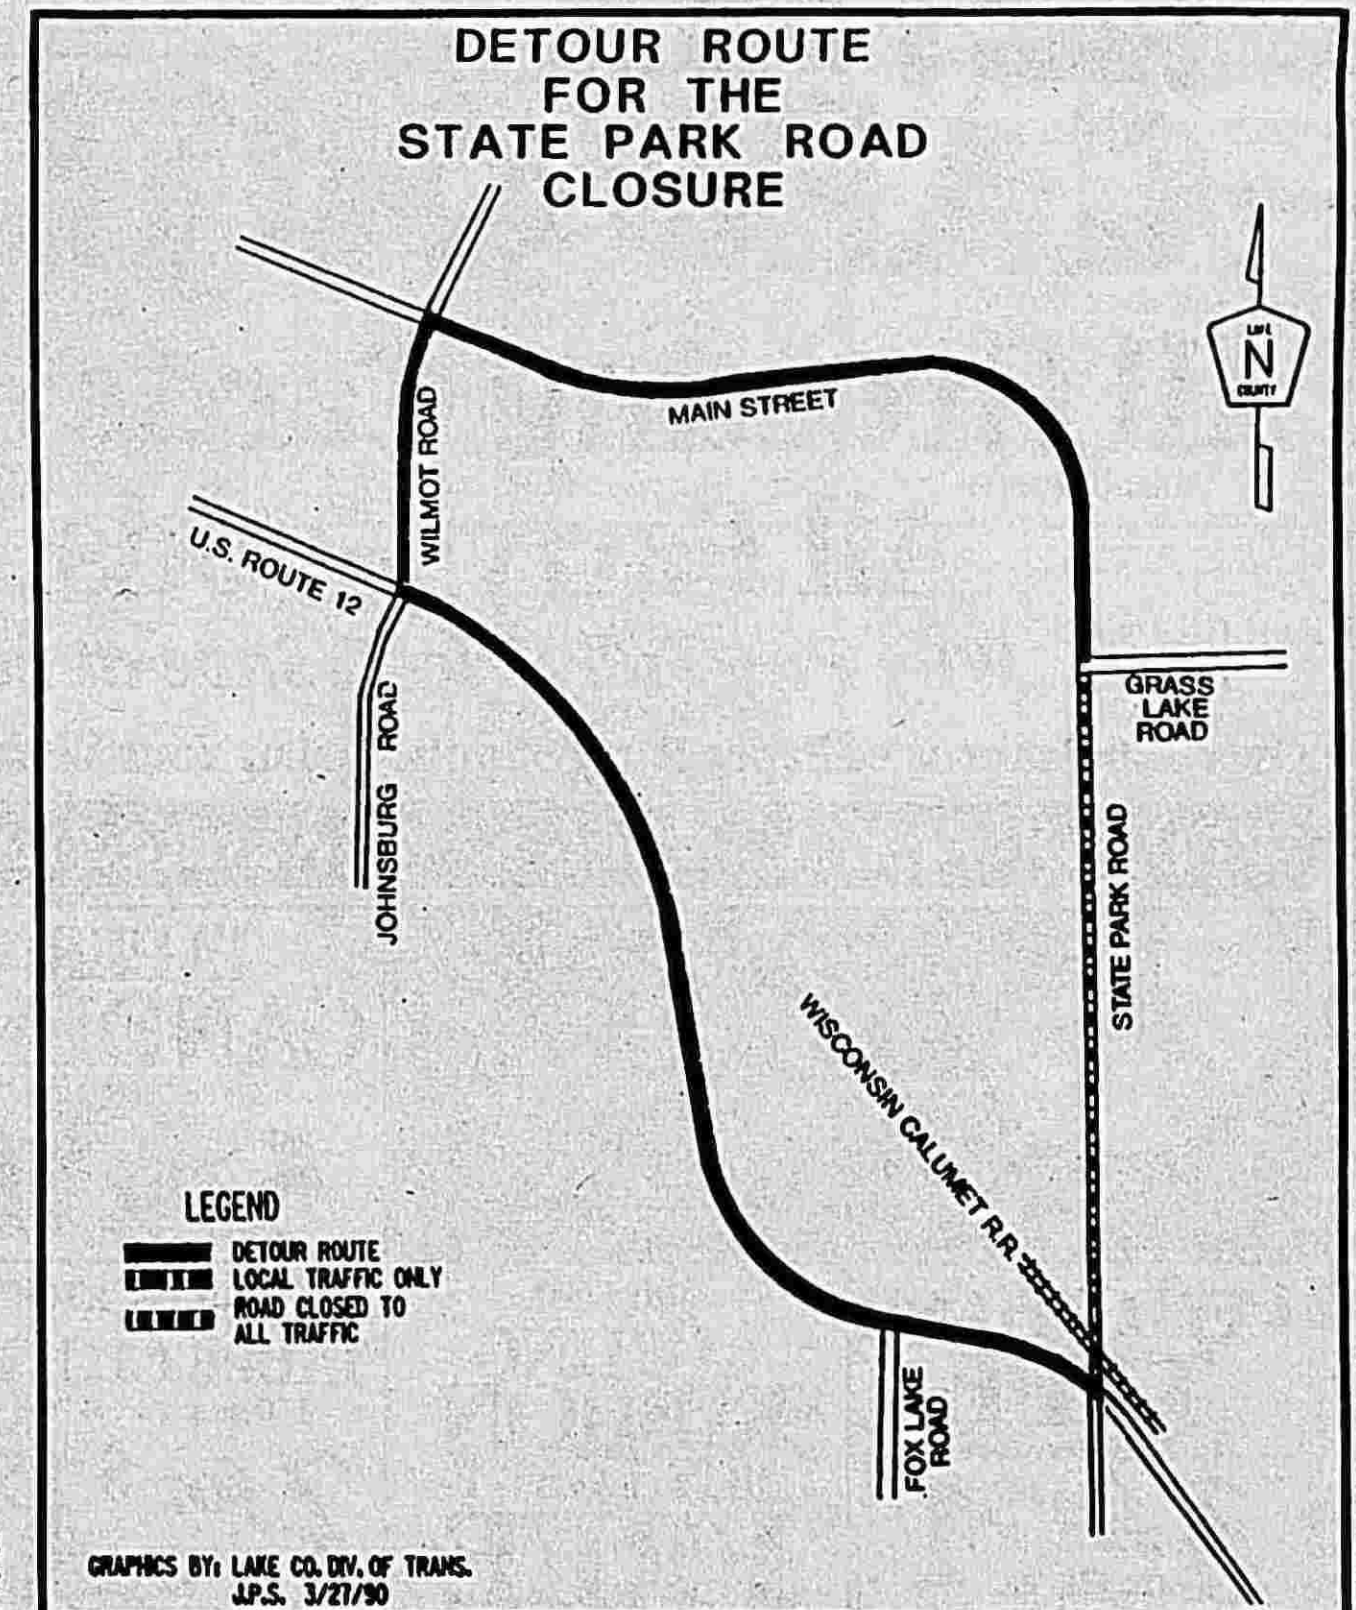

Lake County States Atty. office has filed a petition to revoke Olan's probation. He is charged with driving with a controlled substance after being arrested at I-94, according to John Kornak of the Lake County States Atty. office.

Kornak said a the new charges would supercede previous charges in Vernon Hills. A $75,000 bond was sought.

Kornak said tests were being done on $100,000 cash bond which was seized for possible evidence of cocaine.

Road closed

State Park Rd., in the Village of Fox Lake, will be closed to through traffic between Grass Lake Rd. and Rte. 12 starting April 27. This closure will be for approximately five days in order for the Wisconsin Calumet Railroad to reconstruct the existing railroad crossing on State Park Rd. Local traffic will be allowed from Grass Lake Rd. to the Wisconsin Calumet Railroad crossing. No traffic will be allowed to use the crossing from April 27 to May 2. Traffic will be detoured by way of Wilmet Rd. to Rte. 12, as shown on the above map.

The series serves as an invitation to non-practicing Catholics to renew their relationship with their church, which is the number one goal of the Archdiocese of Chicago. It will include an update on the Catholic faith followed by informal sharing and reflections from Catholics who have returned to full and active participation in their faith after years of separation. Everyone is invited to attend at St. Bede Parish, Coleman Hall, Rte. 59 and Wilson Rd., Ingleside on Monday evenings at 7:30 p.m., on April 23, 30 and May 7. RETURN AND RE-MEMBER

A Welcome Home for Non-Practicing Catholics

St. Bede Parish
Route 59 and Wilson Road
Ingleside, Illinois

Monday Evenings: April 23, April 30 and May 7
Coleman Hall
7:30 p.m.

Studies indicate that people return to the Church because they have been personally invited and made to feel welcome. People who remain non-practicing do so because they believe the Church does not care about them because active Catholics do not extend a personal invitation to them.

We look forward to welcoming and listening to you.

No commitment is necessary

Votes tell the story of Libertyville reps

Dolan, Moore vote for wide-open county

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

Two County Board members from Dist. 5—Andrea Moore and James Dolan, both of Libertyville—disappointed their backers with a key votes last week.

They voted with the minority to extend sewers to 1,250 acres north and west of Gurnee to property annexed by the village last year. Zoned countryside by the county prior to annexation, density would have been limited to approximately one home per acre with septic tanks and wells.

Annexation and county sewer service means the density could be pushed to 2.2 units per acre. Planned are 3,000 luxury homes costing $200,000 and up, town-houses and some apartments.

Sewers to serve the area by the county-operated North Shore Sanitary Dist. would have to be extended north of Washington St. It was decided several years ago not to do this in order to preserve the capacity of the sewer plant for development south of Washington St.

Last week the County Board formally considered a request from Gurnee for the banned sewer service. The action was urged by five developers of the acreage; Lexington Homes with its Arbor Valley, the Zale Group with Trophy Club, the Lake Group with Aberdare Estates; owners of two unplatted parcels; and the all-commercial Western Development Corp.

The vote to deny sewer service was 14-9. A lawsuit has been predicted James Gordon, an attorney for both Lexington Homes and Gurnee.

Both Moore and Dolan voted to extend the sewer service. So did Dist. 1 representatives Deloris Axelrod of Highland Park and Richard Price and Donald Strenger, both of Lake Forest; Matthew Miholic of Lake Bluff in Dist. 2; James LaBelle of Zion and Robert Neal of Wadsworth in Dist. 3; and Jim Fields of Antioch in Dist. 4.

In effect, they voted to ignore a past decision of the County Board not to extend sewer service and the county's own comprehensive plan that classified the property countryside. This zoning would lead to luxury homes on one-acre or larger parcels with septic tanks. Residents of the area circulated petitions last year with 2,300 petitions asking that the rural character of the area be maintained.

Voting to uphold past board decisions and the county's master zoning plan were two other Libertyville members of the County Board—F.T. "Mike" Graham and Carol Calabrese.

Joining them in their quest to keep Lake County from being overrun by development were 12 other members of the County Board.

Questioned is whether Dolan and Moore are representing the interests of the developers and real estate interests. Both of those parties have had increased influence in the past two County Board elections by financial support of select candidates.

Dolan and Moore profess to be open-space advocates and dedicated to a better Lake County. But their votes of the past year on matters such as this puts them in the "special interest" category. This came through loud and clear with their lack of support for acquisition of acreage in the 1,175 acre Cunco estate between Libertyville and Vernon Hills.

Laser Beam Technique is the most sophisticated in-office treatment available today. It replaces the surgical scalpel with a concentrated beam of light that penetrates the troubled area. It's effective in treating problems such as warts, fungus and ingrown toenails, certain calluses and nerve tumors. Recovery is shorter which means a quicker return to normal activities including work.

Advanced Surgi-Care Technique is also an in-office procedure proven effective for treating bunions, hammertoes, corns, calluses, heel spurs and other related problems. This type of treatment minimizes discomfort and speeds recovery because pins and casts aren't necessary. Advanced Surgi-Care Technique is the practical alternative to relieving foot pain and avoiding a hospital stay.

Insects can be a gardener's best friend

Because insect pests cause so much trouble in home gardens, the gardener is inclined to think of all garden creatures as enemies. Unjust, perhaps, for there are many valuable allies. There are friendly insects which destroy and eat harmful insects. Of these friends, the most important are the Praying Mantis, the Lady Bug and the Dragonflies (which are quite harmless to human beings or animals).

Birds, too, are friends of the gardener. A few kinds may annoy you by eating your seed corn or peas, or by taking the tips out of your pea plants when they are only a few inches high. If this happens, do not kill the birds; protect your seeds and young plants with a chicken wire guard. This should discourage the bird's thievery, but they will still eat nice quantities of harmful grubs, insects, and weed seeds, assistance you will appreciate!

into the ground and in doing so loosens the soil so that drainage is improved and air circulates more freely. The working of earthworms gradually deepens and improves garden soil.

If interested in adding to your biological controls this year, Burpee's Seed Catalog sells Lady Bugs in a small package (1/2 pt.) for $9.95; enough for a backyard garden. Praying Mantis egg cases hatch between 100 to 200 eggs per case; three cases sell for $4.95. Red hybrid earthworms help increase soil fertility; their package is designed so they can be released without handling. A package of 500 worms sells for $15.95.

Even the common earthworm is useful to the gardener. It burrows deep

Techniques for maintaining beautiful lawn

Lawns are an integral part of a home. They have aesthetic appeal, control erosion and often provide a playing surface for family recreation. Following is a list of tips and techniques for establishing and maintaining a lawn.

1. Before mowing, remove from the lawn debris, dog bones, twigs, leaves, toys, and other debris which may be harmful if thrown from the lawn mower.

2. To permit light and heat to speed grass growth, remove excess dormant vegetation with a mower in early spring. Set the mower a notch lower than normal cutting height.

3. Mowing is a weekly task. You should figure about 30 minutes for every 5,000 square feet with a 21-inch mower. If the lawn will not be used for recreational activity, the grass should be permitted to grow to a higher height. You also can select a grass that has low fertility requirements or that grows more slowly.

4. Remove low spots where snow mold and water accumulate. Use a light leaf rake to remove dead grass and add topsoil to level.

5. Fertilize in late spring, after winter nitrates are exhausted.

6. Aerate your lawn each spring to reduce soil compaction and increase your lawn's ability to absorb moisture and nutrients.

7. After the first or second mowing, set mower to preferred height of cut for your region. Mow often enough to remove 1/3 of the leaf surface.

8. Your choice of grass and fertilizer is dependent upon soil and growing conditions.
